Clear Way for North La Salle Street Widening

Court Removes Last Legal Obstacle.

La Salle street, planned as a new, widened outlet from the loop on the north, will be ready for use by motor cars within eighteen months, Michael J. Murphy, head of the board of local improvements, predicted last night.

After five years' delay, the last of the legal obstacles to the project were removed yesterday by Circuit Judge J. C. Van Keuren and final judgment was entered within a few weeks.

Mr. Murphy, elated by the decision, declared the city will push actual work with all possible speed.

"The new La Salle street bridge is scheduled to be finished about Jan. 1, 1928," he explained. "We expect to have the street widened and paved by that time and have a joint ribbon cutting for both projects."

12 West Wide to Ohio Street.

The improvement plans call for widening of La Salle street from 80 to 120 feet between Washington and Ohio streets and to 105 feet between Ohio and DuSable streets. The new bridge, costing $2,500,000, will be the same width as the Michigan avenue span. The entire cost will be about $12,000,000.

It will thus be possible for a motorist to drive from the merging point of these north side arteries in Lincoln street directly to Wacker drive and the heart of the loop over a road without street car tracks.

At present nearly all north side business car traffic, some 50,000 vehicles a day, travels on Michigan avenue, making acute congestion in many hours at the link bridge. With the improvement of La Salle street and construction of the proposed river bridge, Chicago plan commission officials say, this congestion will be greatly relieved.

Since the project was recommended, new buildings have been erected on La Salle street between Wacker drive and Washington street—the Bulfinch building, Burnham building and the Bismarck hotel. All are set back in conformity with the new street width. Neighboring buildings of the street are all old.

The city plans to start demolishing these old buildings first, completing the downtown segment of the improvement. Widening and paving work will then be carried on north to Ohio street, and finally from Ohio street to Lincoln park.

COUNTY PLAN FACES SNAG

Cook county's wider highway program, which has reached the critical stage on several projects, now faces a snag of red tape which exists in the office of the state highway department. All plans which affect designated state routes, which in turn are the principal arteries, must have approval of the state before the county can proceed.

The plan the arrangement decided upon for the acceptance of the proposed widening of the $15,000,000 road was voted last November.

Official brakes were partially greased at that time upon the suggestion of Mr. George A. Quinlan, superintendent of county highways, but there remains the routine of approval which applies to proposed work on the highways under state maintenance.

Phase Responsibility.

John J. Cernak, president of the county board, was a little more specific in placing the responsibility for a delay in work, which he thinks resulted in an improbability of the completion of any of the program this year.

"The holding up of the enabling legislation until July, when it might not have been acted upon at the beginning of the season, has put a year in our ability to begin widening wider roads," he said. Yet the measure, which affects only Cook county, was held back and used as an argument to influence legislative action in which the governor presumably was interested, and which related more to state than Cook county affairs."

Under the prebend agreement the state and county were equally charged with the work. Mr. Quinlan, for the county, agreed that the state should do the shoulder work and the county the surveys and the plans. This was acceptable, finally, to the state. Acting under this arrangement the work has gone ahead with its part completed on page 9, column 1.)

COATH VOWS TO FIRE M'ANDREW BEFORE SEPT. 1

Promises Shakeup of School System.

President J. Lewis Coath of the board of education yesterday announced that Supt. William McAndrew, whom he called a "bunk shooting educator," would be ousted before the opening of schools in September and that the entire educational department would be revamped in accordance with the ideas of the new administration.

What the procedure will be Mr. Coath declined to say, but he stated that Supt. McAndrew was holding his job only by a thread and that a new interpretation of the Otis act would make it possible to dismiss the superintendent immediately and painlessly, and that the latter would have no recourse to the courts.

"All Over in 5 Minutes."

"Supt. McAndrew will be discharged by the board of education before the first of September," Mr. Coath said. "The thing will be all over in five minutes. This talk about retaining him until the end of his term in January is absurd. His term has already expired and he can be let go at any time we see fit to dismiss him."

Although the board's plan of action is being kept a secret, it is understood that it will be based on a clause in the Otis act which provides that superintendents shall be elected for four year terms. The law was passed in 1917.

The administration, it is said, will go on the assumption that Supt. McAndrew's term should expire at four year intervals dating from 1917, that is, in 1921, 1925, 1929, etc. Inasmuch as Supt. McAndrew was elected in 1924, his opponents are expected to contend that his term expired in 1925.

Attacks McAndrew Policy.

Yesterday's pronouncement was the first attack on Supt. McAndrew since the election of President Coath in May and was taken as an indication that the new administration is confident of its ground. Mr. Coath bitterly denounced Supt. McAndrew and his policies, and declared that it would require five years to "undo the damage he had done to the school system."

"Supt. McAndrew is the worst bunk shooting educator in the United States," Mr. Coath said. His policy has been to turn out pupils as fast as possible, whether they learn anything or not. Our schools have become grist mills, robbed of the human touch, and conducted solely for the purpose of making reputations for the higher-ups. These educators pass all their students, good and poor alike, so that they can go to the National Educational association conventions and boast about their 100 per cent records."

Leading On the Job.

Following a conference with District Superintendent Henry G. Clark, Mr. Coath announced that Clark had informed him that assistant and district superintendents were loafing on the job and that they didn't work more than 70 per cent of the time. He said that immediately after Supt. McAndrew's dismissal, eighteen of these officers would be demoted.

The housecleaning in the education department began yesterday when Mr. Coath received the resignation of Supt. H. Engle, chief of the division of instruction, and demanded that of Homer Davis, director of building survey. Mr. Coath denied that Clark was being considered as a possible successor to Supt. McAndrew.

Next to Be Chicagoan.

"I do not know yet who will be the next superintendent," he said, "but he will be a Chicago man. There are at least twenty-five men in the system who would make better school heads than Mr. McAndrew."

A bill for an injunction to restrain the board of education from replacing the 2,000 persons employed by the engineer-custodians with civil service employees was filed in the Circuit court yesterday by James J. Spain, president of the engineer-custodians' union. The petition charges that sixty day appointments are being made by President Coath to pay off his political obligations, and that these appointments violate the state law and the rules of the board of education. Hearing has been set for Aug. 15.

INSIST SCANTILY CLAD WOMEN BE DENIED CRUCIFIX

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ROME, July 12.—The campaign for the return of old-fashioned dress for women, which is being sponsored by the Vatican, entered a new phase today when Unita Cattolica di Florence, one of the most important Catholic papers in the country, began a movement to prevent "improperly dressed" women from wearing the cross or crucifix.

"We saw one day in the streets of Florence a woman of the aristocracy dressed with the most rigid economy, who wore on her naked breast a gold cross," the paper says. "The symbol of sacrifice and sorrow joined with the crudest form of mundanity, the emblem of redemption resting on perdition. Both, the blessed, mortal bed of Christ put in contrast with an instrument of the most lascivious seduction."

Locked Out of Wedding Fete, Shoots Herself

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Barred by a command of her estranged husband from the feast that followed the marriage of her stepdaughter yesterday, Mrs. Elizabeth Welcome, 32 years old, shot and possibly fatally wounded herself at the Fowry hotel, 2340 Winthrop avenue, in a room next to the one in which the merry party had congregated.

A week ago, the Summerdale police learned, Mrs. Welcome, who is owner of a restaurant at Beryn and Kenmore avenues, quarreled with her husband, George, a painting contractor. He left her and refused to live any longer in the hotel. His daughter, Lois, however, kept her room there, next to her stepmother's.

Bride's Own Mother at Feast.

Yesterday afternoon Lois was married to Thomas Brennan, an Edge water Beach hotel employe, by Judge Adams. Present were the father of the bride and her own mother. The latter, after a divorce from Welcome, had married Fred Gill. She now resides at 3230 Frounny street.

Following yesterday's ceremony the bride and groom, with the bride's parents, went back to her apartment in the Fowry. Shortly after they entered there was a knock at the door.

"Let me in," cried Mrs. Welcome. "I've got as much right at the party as anybody."

Welcome told her to go away; that she was not wanted. She hammered on the door, shrieking that she would get in if it took all day.

Parents Slip Out of Hotel.

Welcome, evidently believing what she said, told the young couple to meet him at Racine and Leland avenues a little later. Then he and Mrs. Gill slipped out through another exit.

After besieging the bridal couple for another twenty minutes without gaining entrance, Mrs. Welcome went into her own room and shot herself in the chest. She was taken to the Lake View hospital, where her condition was described as critical.

Late last night Welcome could not be found by the police. Mrs. Gill was reported at her home to be "at a wedding party." Apparently neither knew of the tragedy that followed their flight from the hotel. But the bride and bridegroom passed the night in the Summerdale police station, trying to explain to Sergt. Michael DeMuth and William Anderson how it happened.

Four Drown in Lake; Mother Fails to Save Baby

HAMILTON, Ont., July 12.—(Special.)—Four persons were drowned and three were rescued after clinging for over two hours to their overturned sail boat in Hamilton bay tonight. Mrs. Frank Ryan, who was rescued, clung to her three months old baby for over an hour, but exhaustion compelled her to drop it a little before help came.

FOUR KILLED BY HEAT, 2 DROWN AS MERCURY RISES

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Four deaths in Chicago yesterday were attributed to the heat wave. A maximum temperature of 89 degrees was registered at 5:30 p. m. Unsettled condition will prevail today, according to the official forecast, with showers and thunderstorms, but in the afternoon there will be a reaction to cooler.

Miss Marie Gopherd, 55, whose friends say she was a member of the Metropolitan Opera company nearly twenty years ago, collapsed while cooking her breakfast in a rooming house at 318 Central street. She died a short while later, supposedly of heart disease aggravated by the heat.

William Meyerhofer, 50, died after he had fallen while at work in his garden at 2344 South Kostner avenue. Antonio Gasparini, 61, of 1107 East 112th street, fell dead while at work in his home in Alsop, met Mrs. Dorothy Doyle, 32, of 7607 Kingston avenue, in the park. He smoothed the creases in his freshly laundered linen suit, adjusted his red necktie, and said, "Hello, honey," in soft southern accents.

Two Drownings also were Reported during the Day.

Clarence Alfred and Russell Mitchell, both colored.

TRIES TO FLIRT WITH COP'S WIFE, LANDS IN CELL

Rudolph Guthrie, 21, a student at the University of Chicago, learned last night that flirting is the road to trouble. He tried to be too friendly with a policeman's wife in Jackson park. It was charged, and her husband and another policeman took him to the Woodlawn station.

Guthrie, who has been living at the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. since he left his home in Alabama, met Mrs. Dorothy Doyle, 32, of 7607 Kingston avenue, in the park. He smoothed the creases in his freshly laundered linen suit, adjusted his red necktie, and said, "Hello, honey," in soft southern accents.

Mrs. Doyle stepped briskly away. He followed. Policeman Daniel Fitzgerald, a companion of her husband on the south park force, saw the tableau. He ran over. Guthrie started away. Fitzgerald fired and Guthrie halted. Then Policeman Doyle came up and assisted in leading the youth to a cell.

RARE WHISKIES TO BE SOLD, BUT THERE'S A CATCH

Rare whiskies, totaling 319 barrels and approximately 1,500 cases—which anybody is entitled to buy, but which nobody can move unless he can prove the liquor is to be used commercially in the manufacture of articles permitted under the dry laws—will be sold at auction on July 23 at the Shibley warehouse, 1530 South Sangamon street.

The purchaser will receive a certificate of ownership for whisky, and then his troubles will begin if he cannot qualify under the dry laws as a manufacturer of exempted articles. The whiskies consist of old rye, bourbon, Scotch and Irish, of proven date. The stock is being sold for failure of owners to pay storage and other charges.

Aviators Save Lives of Many; See Earth Open

CAIRO, July 12.—Reports from Palestine indicate that 1,000 lives were lost in yesterday's earthquake, including 300 at Maan, 80 at Ludd, 36 at Amman, and 72 at Ramleh. Half the town of Nabulus was destroyed and scores were killed.

Most complete reports tonight come from British military aviators who have been rescuing survivors in many devastated cities, notably Ludd and Ramleh and Amman.

An officer of the British royal air force, who flew in from Transjordan, says that the devastation is general. From the air he saw great fissures open in the hills at Ramleh.

The earthquake, with most of the damage was done. He saw the upper half of the minaret of the new mosque there crash to the ground as if cut with a knife. The new royal air force magazine there was raised.

Houses Fall Upon People.

Many houses collapsed in various parts of the country, burying the occupants.

The hospitals are full and the authorities have telegraphed to Cairo for medical supplies. These have been sent by airplanes.

The earthquake is said to be the severest experienced in Palestine in a hundred years.

The earthquake produced considerable alarm in Egypt, but there was not much damage here and no loss of life. The antiquities authorities are perturbed over the increasing frequency of earth tremors in this country.

Yesterday's quake caused new cracks in the ruins of Karnak temple. Heaviest Toll East of Jordan.

LONDON, July 12.—(AP)—According to latest Cairo dispatches British military aviators in the earthquake area estimate the number of dead at more than one thousand, with most of the casualties in Transjordan.

The Cairo correspondent of the Daily Express reports 380 dead at Amman and 16 at Ludd, adding the description of an eye-witness from Amman how a house there seemed suddenly riven from top to bottom as if by an ax.

The Daily Mail reports that at Jerusalem there was half one victim, this being the wife of Sir Syed Abdul Raouf, former judge of the high court at Allahabad.

Official details of the catastrophe are still lacking and the estimate of 1,000 dead is partly conjectural.

Flee Homes in Jerusalem.

JERUSALEM, July 12.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—"The City of Peace" today has the appearance of having passed through a siege as the result of yesterday's earthquake.

The streets early were filled with the people who feared to reenter their houses.

The Allenby bridge was damaged at both ends.

The Greek Catholic church of the Holy Sepulcher has been declared a safe because of the cracks in the walls.

Hebrew University Damaged.

The roof of the chemical laboratory of the Hebrew university fell.

The government house on the Mount of Olives was badly damaged. Rooms of the high commissioner, Lord Plumer, and Lady Plumer, now on vacation in England, were wrecked.

BUILT BY AMERICAN JEWS.

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—The Institute of Jewish Studies, established through the generosity of American Jews, and the department of chemistry suffered most when the Hebrew university buildings at Jerusalem were shaken, say dispatches to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

The Institute of Jewish Studies is conducted on the income of a $500,000 fund established by Felix M. Werburg, Mrs. Sol Rosenbloom of Pittsburgh donated $500,000 to erect the institute.

TEACHER DIES IN AUTO CRASH ON MICHIGAN BOUL.

Miss Brooks, a school teacher from Kansas City, was killed shortly before 4 o'clock this morning when an automobile in which she was riding crashed into a signal light at Roosevelt road and Michigan avenue. According to the South Park police, the machine, driven by a man who gave his name as David Fritman, 6115 Jackson street, Kansas City, was going south at a high rate of speed when the crash occurred.

The speeding car was sighted by Park Policeman Arthur Johnson and Louis Turner and they were just starting in pursuit when the machine hit the post.

Fritman told the police Miss Brooks lived at the same address in Kansas City as his, and that they had come to Chicago to visit friends. He said he was staying at the Bismarck hotel, but the clerk declared he was not registered there, and police believe the name he gave is fictitious. Travelers' checks for $500 bore Miss Brooks' name. Fritman was not injured. Miss Brooks was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where she was pronounced dead. Fritman was locked up.

JAPANESE MAKE THREAT TO QUIT NAVAL PARLEY

Won't Accept High Cruiser Quotas.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 12.—Great Britain and the United States tonight are within an ace of an agreement over the cruiser tonnage to be allotted to each of them. For three weeks this question has been the stumbling block of the Coolidge tripartite naval conference. But Japan now threatens to prevent a successful outcome of the meeting by standing pat for a vastly lower tonnage.

The English and American delegates are talking on the basis of the admiral's latest proposal. This would give the United States and Britain each about 400,000 tons of all types of cruisers. Ambassador Hugh Gibson, chief of the American delegation, has hinted he is willing to discuss this plan.

The Japanese delegates, however, reiterate that they will not go above 400,000 tons for cruisers and destroyers combined. This is the total for the two categories as suggested in the original American plan, submitted on the opening day of the conference.

"Japanese Ready to Quit."

"We are ready to return home without any treaty, without any quarrel," Admiral Saito, head of the Tokyo delegation, told his colleagues today. "My government's position is well understood. The conference was called to limit armaments seriously, and we believe that the 400,000 tons suggested by Ambassador Gibson—300,000 tons of cruisers and 100,000 tons of destroyers—are ample."

"If the present figures under discussion between the British and Americans are satisfactory to them, let them reach an agreement between themselves, but the tonnage is entirely too high for Japan, and we prefer to go home."

Despite Japan's adamant position, the American delegation is cheerful about the outlook, and happy over the reduction of the British demands. These were scaled down from the original proposal for 600,000 tons to the figure now under consideration.

"Of course, it is difficult for us to fashion what happened since the Washington conference, when the British accepted in principle 450,000 tons of cruisers and destroyers, while we now find 400,000 tons of cruisers the irreducible minimum, but we are hopeful for an accord," the American delegates say.

Coolidge Backs Envoys.

Mr. Gibson today received a long cable from President Coolidge in which the President's position was made clear. The President's position and did not suggest any compromise sacrifice of the United States navy's interests.

"Certainly we are ready to go home without a treaty rather than frame some treaty which does not meet the needs of the United States," Mr. Gibson said tonight, "but I do not think we have reached the stage yet where that course must be envisaged."

When asked about the Japanese remark that London and Washington can make a two-power treaty if the British will, Mr. Gibson said: "No, a two-power treaty is not what we came for. We came to extend the principles of the Washington agreement limiting the armaments of auxiliary craft not included in the 1921 convention and unless we do that we will do nothing."

British Hope for Accord.

The British declined to comment on Admiral Saito's suggestion for a two-power treaty, but expressed hope for an eventual agreement which would be satisfactory to Japan.

The new British proposals provide for ten 10,000 ton cruisers for the United States and England and six for Japan.

While the American navy experts figure that the battle fleet requires twenty-three maximum size cruisers to balance the capital ships for combat operations adequately, the technical advisers are ready to accept eighteen of these large cruisers. Admiral Hillyer Jones is reported to be ready to shave this figure to fifteen, if necessary, to reach an agreement.

Opposed By British.

The balance of tonnage the Americans insist on putting into cruisers of 7,500 tons or over, capable of mounting eight inch guns. This article the British, who insist they require a certain number of smaller patrol cruisers under 5,000 tons, but at the same time demand an equal number of 7,500 ton cruisers carrying eight inch guns.

The discussion now is continuing.

CARLSTROM HAT IS TOSSED INTO GOVERNOR RING

Attorney General First to Announce Candidacy.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Oscar E. Carlstrom, attorney general, formally announced himself yesterday as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois in the primary next April. This is the first declaration. But Gov. Small has shown repeated symptoms of planning a third term campaign. Secretary of State L. E. Zimmerman has told friends both orally and in writing that he is a candidate. And there is considerable support going to Omer N. Custer, of Galesburg, former state treasurer.

The Attorney General Carlstrom's announcement created a fairly definite prospect that there will be at least three downfellers in the race. And the latest question left in the minds of the politicians concerns what Chicago and Cook county will do. Will Chicago, they ask, have a candidate of its own? Friends of Noble B. Mahal of Chicago were talking yesterday of him as gubernatorial timber, standing as a lawyer and in community affairs.

Cook County G. O. P. Silent.

The demand for election of a governor from Cook county is heard more and more frequently since the downfellers showed their attitude toward Chicago so clearly in the recent general assembly.

Repeated efforts to obtain from the leaders of the local Republican organization a definite indication of their attitude on state matters have been futile. Following issuance of the Carlstrom statement, both State Attorney Robert E. Crowe, considered the most powerful in his combination, and Homer K. Galpin, county chairman, revealed no definite information. "The organization has not taken up state matters," said Galpin, speaking for the two, "and there will be nothing decided until it acts as a unit."

Carlstrom Tells Achievements.

Attorney General Carlstrom's statement recited his accomplishments in his office, listing particularly the disposal of the Illinois Central railroad litigation, the pending settlement of the Small $1,000,000 suit, the Lake Michigan water diversion cause, and the dissolution of $7,000,000 of defaulted bonds.

He pledged his support to the Illinois road building program with a provision that "road locations and construction problems will be determined by engineering data and transportation needs as primary considerations." This language is considered a bit of a slap at Gov. Small's methods in determining what roads are to be constructed.

The statement contained two other references that were construed as criticism—indirect though they were—of the present administration. "I shall bend every energy," read one of these, "to correct the abuses of the pardon and parole situation in Illinois and endeavor to establish an administration of that law consistent with its original useful intent."

This also viewed as criticism. And the other, understood as alluding to Gov. Small's control of the legislature and his efforts to unseat judges, read: "I believe, to save the form of our government, the three departments—executive, judicial and legislative—should be allowed to operate independently of each other as contemplated in our constitution; and to this principle I will strictly adhere."

There also was a reference to the increasing feeling between downstate and Chicago, reading: "I am one of those who hold firmly to the faith that the great city of Chicago and the other large municipal centers of the state have interests in common of vital importance with the rest of the state and that those interests are reciprocal."

"With open minds and willingness to be just with one another, we can eliminate our differences and go forward in comparable unity of purpose and endeavor to the great advantage of the state as a whole; and for such a program I stand firmly."

That You Must Not Miss!

The Great Western will leave at 8 a. m. (Standard Time) for Chicago, to Bellevue, Iowa, on Sunday. DRAG LAKE FOR BODIES OF THREE CHICAGO GIRLS

Coast guardsmen at Ludington, Mich., were dragging lower Hamlin lake last night in an effort to recover the bodies of three Chicago girls who were drowned there Monday on the first day of their fortnight vacation when a sudden squall swept them and six companions into the water and capsized their boat.

The girls who lost their lives were: Lucille Mahal, 27, of 1644 South Ave. street, employed at the Western Electric plant.

Stella Mahal, 26, Lucille's sister, 1644 South Ave. street, bookkeeper for the Ed V. Price company.

Veronica Quartetti, 25, of 4815 Metro street, stenographer for the General Electric company.

William R. Warner, of Cleveland, manager of the inn where the girls were staying, lashed his boat, with its small engine, and the lead boat together in a futile effort to weather the storm. The engine died, the boat swirled about, and all nine were swept into the lake. Warner and the following five Chicago girls were rescued: Virginia Detrona, 4815 Metro street; Helene Bell, 2700 West 23d street; Josephine Plutti, 4040 Wilcox street; Clara Diens, 4111 North Ridge avenue, and Mrs. Ethel Marshall, 4214 Lowe avenue.

COUNCIL ACTS ON EXTENDING CAR FRANCHISE TODAY

An ordinance extending the surface line franchise to Dec. 1 will be acted on by the council local transportation committee at a special meeting at 1 p. m. today. The committee's report will go to the council at 2 p. m.

The extension of the grant, which expires on July 31, for four months instead of six months was proposed by Mayor Thompson, and the ordinance was being drafted accordingly by Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Breen yesterday. The mayor has said that a new ordinance should be ready within four months.

City hall observers pointed out that the length of the temporary franchise is immaterial, since it must be repeated every year until a permanent grant is settled on. Otherwise the surface franchise would have no right to operate on the city streets, they said.

Father Fined for Beating Son Who Lost His Key

"He's a bad boy..." began Frank DeCassa, 530 North Dearborn street, arraigned yesterday for beating his ten-year-old stepson, Derold Mathers, who lost a key while out for a swim. "That'll do," interrupted Judge John A. Sbarbaro, "you're fined $100 and costs. Next case." The boy had testified that his stepfather drugged him with a pitcher of water and then beat him about the head and body with his fists.

WINS FIGHT TO EARN BEFORE HE PAYS ALIMONY

Judge Unlocks Jail for "Martyr" Husband.

Oriand L. Blake, self-styled martyr of the Anti-Alimony club, yesterday won a victory before Superior Judge Harry A. Lewis in his alimony fight with his wife, Mrs. Catherine M. Blake, of 1215 Leland avenue, who is suing him for separate maintenance. The court sustained his plea to remain out of jail and be relieved of paying alimony until he can establish an income.

"Our position," said his attorney, Irving Eisenman, "is that the courts should not encourage gold-digging. This couple lived together only 21 months. They have no children. And Mrs. Blake's petition sets up that she is a better business person than he is, increasing his earnings during their brief marriage from $2,500 to $20,000 a year. Besides, he has two children of a former marriage to support."

"Only a Second Mortgage." "You are correct," commented Judge Lewis, "that the obligations of his first marriage is a first lien on his earnings. A second mortgage is only a second mortgage, anyway."

"We would agree with him if he had hidden assets," her lawyer, E. M. Libonati, interposed. "This woman is ill and unable to work. She is entitled to be supported in the style to which she was accustomed."

"The day will soon come," Judge Lewis reflected, "when any woman will be in disrepute for taking money from a man with whom she is not living."

Defense Springs Surprise.

Mrs. L. A. Closser, wife of Blake's former associate in the real estate business, was called as a surprise witness. She testified that Mrs. Blake told her: "I'm going to keep my husband in jail just for the satisfaction of it. Sure, I can make my own living."

Mrs. Blake promptly denied making such a statement.

"We must have an order for money," the wife's lawyer addressed the judge, "if for no other reason, for the effect it will have on alimony-dodging husbands."

"Money, money, money, that's all I hear from wives all day," the judge put his hands to his head. "Let's give the man a chance to make a few sales before we try to take anything from him. Let's not kick his crutch out from under him."

"I'll continue the contempt hearing until Aug. 15 and I'll get a report on his income then. Keep track of your sales," the judge warned Blake.

"L" Wreck Wrecked Her Home Life, She Tells Judge

A wreck on the "L" wrecked the home of Mrs. Edith Urban, 604 Dale avenue, she testified yesterday before Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch. The blockade from a derailment delayed her in arriving home and her husband, William, beat her because his dinner was late, she explained. The judge indicated she will be granted a divorce.

Gunman Robs and Attacks Girl on Way from Theater

A 17-year-old girl, while on her way home from a theater last night, was seized by an armed robber, who forced her into an alley near Anselme street and North Oakley avenue, where he robbed her of 50 cents and then criminally assaulted her.

MRS. JOHN R. THOMPSON JR. Thieves stole two fur coats, valued at $1,000, from the automobile of Mrs. John R. Mrs. Thompson was visiting her husband, who has been confined by a minor operation since his father's death recently.

WIFE IN PERFUME BATH CASE FILES ALIMONY SUIT

William J. McCarthy, wealthy contractor, known to divorce court fans from 1917 to 1921 as "Perfume Bath Bill," yesterday was sued for back alimony by his wife, Margaret M. McCarthy, who passed a bar examination on her legal knowledge gained from prosecuting her husband.

Mrs. McCarthy charges that her husband has defrauded her of her $800 a month alimony by making pretended conveyances of his assets to friends and relatives. Listed among these friends, who are made co-defendants, are Miss Rose Ritchie and Mrs. Loreta Galvin, who with McCarthy were dubbed the "Triple Alliance" during the long separate maintenance fight in the courts. In this fight she finally won $22,745 in a lump sum as well as the $800 a month award.

The wife, who is acting as her own lawyer, asks that McCarthy's property transfers be set aside as fraudulent, that the holders of his valuables be compelled to give an accounting. McCarthy, who inherited a large estate from his parents, won his nickname through his wife's charges that he took perfume baths before going to his office, where he had a pretty stenographer.

ALDERMEN DIP FREELY IN CITY'S NEW MONEY PILE

Start Merry Round of Appropriations.

With plenty of money in sight, the city council's finance committee yesterday at its first session since Gov. Small signed the Thompson finance bills threw off its customary restraint and engaged in a merry round of spending.

As a starter, the aldermen voted to abolish a provision for special council approval of about $1,000,000 in mid-year budget appropriations which had been made contingent on the relief from Springfield.

They then proceeded to vote new automobiles and personal car maintenance to a score of city employees and approved requests of several department heads for additional employees, including two special attorneys at $50 a day and two building valuers at $100 a day for the board of local improvements.

Opposition Snowed Under.

Ald. R. A. Woodhull [7th], Guy Guernsey [5th], and E. I. Frankhauser [4th], opposed many of the expenditures but they were overwhelmingly outvoted by the majority, led by Ald. O. F. Nelson [4th], Thompson spokesman.

The Thompsonites received their only setback when they attempted to remove the string necessity for special council approval from a $1,500,000 street light bond issue appropriation, giving Michael J. Kennedy, head of the department of gas and electricity, free rein to spend the cash as he saw fit.

viva voce vote defeated the motion but a few minutes later, when two Thompson aldermen returned to the room, Ald. Nelson moved a reconsideration. A vote of 7 to 7 resulted, Chairman John Clark voted "no," later waiving that vote.

By request of Ald. Cronson, Thomas Keefe, secretary to Controller Charles Fitzmorris, was given a salary boost from $2,300 to $3,600 a year "because he has five children and needs the money." Other friends of committee men were similarly cared for.

$175,000 More Approved. The committee approved the release of $175,000, in addition to $125,000 previously allotted, for a tunnel connecting the Bridwell and new county jail. The committee's staff explained that union labor refused to let Bridwell prisoners do the work.

The committee also recommended two ordinances to the council, one allowing the city treasurer to invest $15,000,000 from the traction fund in city bonds, the other providing for an annual license fee of $100 for retail florists.

SURFACE LINES PAY CONFERENCE REOPENS TODAY

After a six days' adjournment, the wage scale conference between officials of the Chicago Surface Lines and leaders of the street car men's international union will be resumed this afternoon in the offices of Henry A. Blair, chairman of the traction lines' board of operation.

Conductors and motormen on the surface lines are asking for a 15 cents an hour increase, $1,000 life insurance policies, and a $25 a week sick benefit.

BYRD AND CREW AND CHAMBERLIN SAIL FOR U. S.

Commander and Men in Queen Marie's Suite.

CHERBOURG, France, July 12.—(AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd and his crew—Lieut. Noville, Lieut. Balchen and Bert Acosta—who flew across the Atlantic with him less than two weeks ago, sailed for home at sundown this evening aboard the Leviathan. They were weary from many days and nights of being isolated, but happy to be on the way back to the land to whose glory they have added much.

Also aboard the Leviathan was Clarence D. Chamberlin, who made the trans-Atlantic flight to Germany ahead of them with Charles Levine in the monoplane Columbia.

"Vive la France," Byrd's farewell. "Au revoir and vive la France," was Commander Byrd's farewell as he left the continent. "We are delighted beyond measure that we landed the America (his plane) on French soil. We expected no reception; we received a marvelous one—far beyond what we deserved."

"This shows the generous sporting heart of France. What is more, the spontaneous acclaim given us everywhere demonstrates to our own people that the affection of France for America has not changed since 1776."

The Byrd party was accompanied by H. A. Gibbons, representative of Rodman Wanamaker, sponsor of the Atlantic flight. They occupied the same suite on the Leviathan that Queen Marie of Roumania and her children occupied on their trip to the United States last year.

Capt. Courtney is now at Calahot testing his flying boat which he plans to start across the Atlantic next week.

WELCOME HAWAII FLYERS

San Francisco, July 12.—(AP)—Two California cities were stirred to unprecedented enthusiasm today when Lieutenants Lester J. Maitland and Albert Hegenberger, army aviators, returned from their historic flight to Hawaii.

Officials of San Francisco and Oakland were unanimous in the declaration that never had their cities shown such enthusiasm or made more noise than in the welcome to the aviators.

From the time the bow of the liner Maui loomed out of the western sea, banks with the aviators aboard until late tonight greetings were in order.

Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger met their wives on the pier. Lieut. Maitland also was met by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Maitland of Burlingame, Cal., and by his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maitland of Milwaukee.

The lieutenants said they expected to remain in San Francisco about three days before receiving orders taking them eastward.

BOARD LISTENS TO TRIAL JUDGE IN SACCO CASE

Boston, Mass., July 12.—(Special).—Gov. Fuller's special committee today examined at length Judge Webster Thayer, who presided at the Sacco-Vanzetti trial and whose alleged "prejudice" now is one of the leading arguments of the defense.

The committee, which consists of Dr. Lowell, president of Harvard; Dr. Stratton, president of M. I. T., and former Judge Grant, called in William G. Thompson, chief counsel for the defense; Professor James F. Richardson of Dartmouth, who wrote one of the affidavits on the alleged "prejudice" of Judge Thayer; Herbert Ehrmann, associate of Thompson, and Dudley P. Ranney, assistant district attorney.

"If Sacco and Vanzetti are killed," Prof. Skinner declared, "it will be something far more than the death of two poor Italians. It will mean a persistent denial of an open, fair trial, and it will bring about a loss of confidence in the courts of Massachusetts."

PACIFISM KEPT ALIVE BY FIFTY ORGANIZATIONS

Flood Nation, Congress
with Propaganda.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., July 12.—[Special.]—Our country is being swamped by a tidal wave of pacifist propaganda, estimated at approximately $3,000,000 a year. These organizations are working in various ways for world peace and the abolition of war, but the majority of them are also working to weaken the military preparedness of the United States for national defense.

The more radical of these organizations are now concentrating, like the Socialists and communists and some of the church organizations, upon agitation against the administration policy of dealing with Mexico and Nicaragua. They are fond of depicting the United States as militaristic and imperialistic and a menace to the preservation of peace.

The pacifists and radicals have taken at least from the communist manual tactics in their propaganda campaigns to mold American public opinion and influence legislation.

Boring from Within.
They are "boring from within," in the phrase made famous by William Z. Foster, chief of the communist detachment of sappers and miners assigned to the undermining of the American nation preparatory to the overthrow of the American form of government "by force and violence."

With some of their objectives identical, though pursued from diverse motives, with a bond of sympathy uniting them as champions of change and with their propaganda organizations interlocking in varying degrees with each other through common directors—these relations existing, the pacifists and radicals are "boring from within" the churches, schools and colleges, labor unions, women's clubs and other organizations. As they gain headway in these institutions they are able to bring a more and more powerful influence to bear on the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government.

Fight National Defense.
One of the common aims of the pacifists and radicals is to weaken the military preparedness of the United States for national defense. The "internationally minded pacifists are more interested in the prevention of war than in military preparedness for defending the nation from attack and regard military preparedness not preventive but provocative of war. Internationally minded radicals are against military preparedness for reasons varying from the moderate position of the Socialists, who regard all wars as the product of capitalism, to the extreme of the communists, who would disarm the United States in order the more easily to overthrow the form of government and replace it with the dictatorship of the proletariat. With the proletariat in control the communists would favor all the military preparedness necessary for adequate national defense.

U. S. Under Communism.
Here is the communist attitude toward national defense of the United States at this time, furnished to me by an internationally famous American communist:

"We are against the maintenance of an army and navy, against military training and all other forms of so-called preparedness for war. We are against war but we are not pacifists. We merely have no class interest in arming the United States because the United States is a capitalist state. We are not interested in defending a capitalist form of government."

"But when a communist form of government shall have been established in this country we shall be interested in defending the United States from attack by a capitalist state and defending it by the use of force, if necessary. We then would favor and support an army and navy to repel attacks, just as soviet Russia maintains an army to defend itself against attacks by capitalist countries."

"Is your attitude determined to any extent by the consideration that our present form of government, if rendered incapable of armed defense, would be more easily overthrown and replaced by communism?" the communist leader was asked.

"You can draw your own conclusions," he replied with a significant smile.

"In support of capitalism," says the Socialist party, "we will not willingly give a single life or a single dollar; in support of the struggle of the workers for freedom, we pledge all."

Pacifist Clearing House.
The most active pacifist organization is the National Council for the Prevention of War, which expends $45,000 a year as a clearing house for the peace work of 34 groups among which are the American Association of University Women, the American Farm Bureau federation, the American Federation of Teachers, which fights the military training of youth; the Fellowship of Reconciliation, the Foreign Policy association, the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., the National Education association, the National Women's Trade Union league, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, the National Consumers' league, the W. C. T. U., and the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches.

These component organizations of the National council expend independently, partly or wholly on pacifist propaganda, an aggregate of more than $500,000 a year.

The Women's International league, the National Women's Trade Union league, the National Consumers' league and the Fellowship of Reconciliation are organizations of Socialists and other radicals which are subsided by the Garland fund for the purpose of spreading pacifist and radical propaganda. The Socialists and communists who administer the Garland fund have stated that their subsidies are granted to radical enterprises only.

Minister Is Spokesman.

The chairman of the National Council for Prevention of War is George M. La Monte, treasurer of the Foreign Policy association, and its director is Frederick J. Libby, a former Congressional minister. The organization pours forth a flood of pacifist propaganda from headquarters across the street from the war department.

Among the officers of the National council are Jane Addams, James R. Howard, Julia C. Lathrop, Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist church, William Allen White, Bishop G. Ashton, Oldham of the Episcopal church, and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman. Mr. Libby has gained national notoriety for utterances widely regarded as unpatriotic and which were the cause of the board of education of the District of Columbia barring him from speaking in the Washington public schools.

Libby is leading the movement for the abolition of military training in schools. His indignation is aroused by the legend, "Let's Go—Citizens' Military Training Camps," appearing on the postmark of letters by authority of the postoffice department. He calls it a "reminder that the nation is being militarized," and urges protest to the President, the device he employed to get the defense test abolished.

Libby was a prime mover in organizing the propaganda to deter the President from withdrawing recognition from the Calles government if American properties should be confiscated.

"The President is watching his mail in this vital issue," Libby proclaimed. "Have you written the President?"

Backs Calles in Mexico.
Libby has espoused the Calles side of the oil and alien land law controversy, asserting that the Coolidge policy is driving toward war for the protection of Mellon's and Doheny's oil properties. He endeavored unsuccessfully to prevent the termination by the President of the smuggling treaty with Mexico, under which arms shipments to Mexican revolutionaries could be intercepted. Now he is invoking the mass lobby to deter the President from lifting the embargo on export of arms to Mexico.

Jane Addams, who is an officer of the American Civil Liberties union, is International president of the Women's International league and a vice president of the National Council for Prevention of War. The director of policies of the league is Emily Greene Balch, who was a member of the Intercollegiate Socialist society executive committee. During the war she was a leader in various pacifist movements and was a member of the Civil Liberties bureau, which championed conscientious objectors, this organization having been the predecessor of the American Civil Liberties union.

The league advocates abolition of armies and navies by international agreement only, but at the same time fosters protest against current expenditures for maintenance of the American army and navy. It issues stickers to be affixed to income tax returns stating that such part of the tax as goes to upkeep of the army and navy is paid under protest.

"You see," said Miss Dorothy Detzer, executive secretary, a bit wistfully, "we can't go to jail or do anything dramatic or martyrlike to manifest our disapproval of armies and navies, as is possible in other countries. If we refuse to pay the tax

FALLING BRICKS KILL WORKER.

Bricks falling from the wall of a two-story brick building at West 63d and Troy streets yesterday killed Michael Clark, 30 years old, of 3033 Justice street. Police said that Clark was digging near the sidewalk in front of the structure and may have dislodged the bricks.

Police Test Bulletproof Glass for Auto Windshields

Chief of Detectives William E. O'Connor and a squad of his men yesterday tested the efficiency of a bulletproof glass for automobile windshields. Bullets from machine guns, pistols, and riot guns failed to pierce the glass and Chief O'Connor announced that the test was a complete success.

Louis Katzewitz, 23 years old, was arrested with a loaded revolver in his hand on Feb. 5 during an attempted pay roll robbery in the offices of the Everett Coal company, 7639 South Chicago avenue. Fred Matson, father of five children, an innocent bystander in search of work, was killed by the holdup men.

Yesterday, despite the instructions of Judge Harry E. Miller that an accomplice in just an act of murder as the man who fired the shot, Katzewitz was acquitted by a jury after a short deliberation. The judge evidenced surprise at the verdict and ordered the jurors to their seats until the regular

MRS. LYDIG SETTLES WITH CREDITORS FOR 40 CENTS ON DOLLAR

New York, July 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Rita De Acosta Lydig, socially prominent bankrupt, today settled with her creditors at the rate of 40 cents on the dollar.

This settlement was agreed upon by twenty-nine of the thirty-two persons and business men holding claims. It was accepted by Robert P. Stephenson, referee.
"I wish to thank you," Mrs. Lydig said to creditors, "for the consideration which you have shown me throughout this unhappy business and to assure you again that you will not lose through your kindness to me."

motions were disposed of.
"As a rule I do not comment on the findings of a jury," Judge Miller said to the twelve men. "The jury under the law is, of course, the judge of the law and the fact and your verdict is final. However, I cannot understand by what power of reasoning you could return a verdict of not guilty in this case."

Katzewitz, who persistently refused to help the police in search of his two escaped robber companions, would have walked from the courtroom free save for the quick action of Prosecutors Harold Levy and Emmet Byrne, who hastily drew up a complaint of assault with intent to commit robbery on the same case.

Despite the protests of Attorney W. W. O'Brien of the defense, Judge Miller ordered a bond of $10,000 pending hearing on the complaint this afternoon. Bond was not forthcoming and Katzewitz was taken back to jail.
"The defendant was caught red-handed with a revolver in his hand at the scene of the crime," said the prosecutors. "We presented as convincing a case as has ever been given to a jury and yet a not guilty verdict is returned. I wonder if juries expect the prosecution to furnish them with a motion picture of the crime?" Katzewitz frankly admitted being a participant in the attempted robbery when he was on the stand. He claimed, however, that two men had forced him to participate.
Felix Wilkowsky, 2316 North Oakley avenue, was foreman of the jury.

Point to Lobby's Defeats in Legislature.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Some of the statemen, cooking a prospective eye at the late legislative session, are wondering whether Gov. Small cracked his state or not with the Illinois Agricultural association, which is the farm bureau organization. Weighing the results of the six months' vote swapping festival at Springfield, they say it looks as if the balance between the farm lobby and the governor proved a one way partnership—that when the bills went through the lemon squeezer, Small apparently grabbed all the juice. Gov. Small's gasoline tax bill went through with farm lobby aid. The governor, when the bill looked wobbly, yelled for help from the farm lobby, which rallied around after putting an amendment into the bill. After they applied restoratives, the bill was slammed through the house.

Claim Farmers Were Let Down.

Afterwards, however, Small, it is pointed out, let down his farmer friends in the gallery. They were strongly opposed to the Chicago bond doubler bills. To get votes for his gas tax in the senate the governor had to trade votes with Chicago politicians, and after five Cook county votes swung over and put through the gas tax, after it had been in the morgue a couple of days, Small in return helped put through the Chicago bond and revenue measures, which were poison ivy to the farm lobby.

Two other measures, state income tax and the Board of Trade bill, which were chief items on the farm lobby program, were knocked off. Small, as the statemen view it, losing interest after he had got his gas tax and quo warranto immunity bath. The farm lobby insists emphatically it did no trading with the governor on quo warranto.

Inventory on Lobby's Score.

An inventory shows the following score on the chief measures on which the farm lobby was active:

CARRIED.

Gas tax.

Great change on farm.

Cook county amendment.

Bovine tuberculosis.

LOST.

State income tax.

Board of Trade control.

$25,000 for corn horse research.

Changes in cooperative act.

In addition the farm lobby lost its fight against the Chicago revenue bills. As to these measures, the June issue of the Illinois Agricultural Record says: "The I. A. A. fought these measures with all its strength. It is hard to understand how any legislator could be for these bills, much less a downstate representative when they open wide the gates for higher taxes."

Local legislators, after pointing out that Small put the bond doubler measures through, say the governor, once he had got his own stuff passed, snuggled closer to the city hall than to the farm lobby and that somebody was decorated with the double cross.

Income Tax on Farm Program.

The state income tax is part of the American Farm Bureau federation program. It was in the resolutions of the Chicago convention last December. An effort was made to get income tax through the Iowa legislature last winter, but it failed. Ditto for Illinois. The law would have shifted part of the tax burden upon the white collar boys in the cities, who already pay the taxes collected from the land-lord.

The Illinois Agricultural association now had one of the strongest lobbies in the third house at Springfield, legislators ranking it in power with the labor lobby and almost with the Anti-Saloon league lobby, which does most of its work back home in the districts.

The association is the state farm bureau organization which has for its national body the American Farm Bureau federation. It has 65,000 members in Illinois. When prices were high in 1919 it had 100,000. The farmer member pays $15 a year, of which $10 goes to the county farm bureau and $5 to the state association, which in turn passes on 50 cents to the national body.

AUTO THEFT BILL AND 21 OTHERS SIGNED BY SMALL

Springfield, Ill., July 12.—[Special.] Gov. Len Small today signed twenty-two house and senate bills, leaving only sixteen bills on hand, which are expected to be passed upon in a few days.

The governor gave his approval to Senator Wood's bill making automobile stealing punishable by a sentence of from one to twenty years in the penitentiary. The bill applies to persons who knowingly purchase stolen cars and to those who conceal them.

He also approved Representative Michael Igo's bill authorizing park boards to acquire sites for landing fields for the air corps and permitting the erection of armories in parks. Among the bills in the possession of the governor is one by Representative Frank McCarthy, placing grain warehouses of the state under the control of the Illinois Commerce commission. The bill was supported by the house committee which investigated the Chicago Board of Trade.

ONLY FOUR MEN IN BIRGER JURY AS SESSION ENDS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Benton, Ill., July 12.—[Special.]—Trial of Charley Birger, Art Newman and Ray (Ike the Jew) Hyland dragged through its third day of jury selection with only four accepted jurors in the box at the finish. The three men were members of the so-called Birger gang. They are charged with the murder of Joe Adams, mayor-saloonkeeper of West City. A number of other killings in this section have been laid at their door.

Many difficulties stand in the way of selecting twelve men to hear the case. Birger stands alone. Newman has "squealed." He has told both on himself and on his former chief. The two now are bitter enemies.

Of the four men who now sit in the box accepted, one is a retired farmer, 60 years old, one is a miner of 40, the third is also a coal digger and 35, while the fourth is 36 and an employe of the state highway department.

Nokol

Automatic Oil Heat

THINGS have been happening in the Nokol organization during the past few months. The American Nokol Company, makers of Nokol, recently moved into its new factory—one of the finest and most up-to-date plants in America. New processes, new equipment, new economies have enabled them to add many new features and improvements to their burner without any increase in cost.

On our part, we've made a big cut in "overhead" too—trimmed expenses all along the line—and we're passing the savings on to you.

Now every home can afford this modern miracle of comfort

If you are like thousands of other home owners—if you've been wanting to modernize your home with automatic oil heat—if you've been waiting until you could get the original, nationally-known, nationally-accepted Nokol at a rock bottom price, now is the time to act.

Never in the history of the Nokol organization have such low prices prevailed. And it is doubtful if they will ever be lower, because with these stabilized prices you're getting everything that volume production can offer you in the automatic oil heat industry.

Quantity production, such as you find in the automotive world, can never be known in this field; because every installation is an individual problem for engineers rather than for cost accountants and every home requires individual attention. If you had to employ separately all the different classes of artisans required to make a complete installation, it would cost you more than twice as much.

Greatest values ever

These new low prices have been effected without any change in the burners themselves—except for added equipment and refinements. In material, in design, in workmanship, it's the same machine that has won Nokol such an outstanding position in the automatic oil heating field and held it ten years—the same machine that is now serving with efficiency and distinction in 38,000 homes—the same machine that has been selected by the great majority of automobile manufacturers and leading engineers throughout the country. But now you get more for your money than ever before.

Now's the time to install Nokol.

Now every home owner can enjoy this greatest boon of modern times—fully automatic, trouble-free heat. With these new low prices and our liberal budget plan, you can modernize your home and never miss the small amount it costs. Now you don't have to be satisfied with an experimental oil burner made to sell "at a price." You can install the economical, tried-and-true, proven Nokol at a price that anyone can pay. But if you want to enjoy Nokol automatic oil heat this winter, don't delay. Every indication points to an oil burner shortage this fall and you may be disappointed if you put it off till the last minute.

Come in today

Stop at our showrooms today and let us explain the details of this attractive offer. Let us show you the new silent Nokol in action so you can make your own comparisons. You'll agree that here is the greatest value ever offered in the history of oil heat.

If you are unable to call today, mail the coupon for full particulars.

As low as $365

$50 puts Nokol in your home complete with automatic safety and operating controls—small monthly payments starting in October. No additional installation costs. Nominal charge for tank.

One of the great bulwarks of American home life is mashed potatoes, a good satisfying dish when mealy spuds are whipped up with rich, whole milk. You couldn't bear the thought of potatoes mixed with water. Milk is what makes mashed potatoes. Now science has done an equally good job in giving you the New Milk Macaroni, the only macaroni mixed with milk in the making. It comes to you as a balanced food and tempts your appetite. Two packages for a quarter; ask your grocer.

CLEAR WAY FOR NORTH LA SALLE STREET WIDENING

Open by 1929, Promise After Court Ruling.

of the transaction, with the result that the status now is:

DEMPSTER STREET WIDENING—Plans ready for letting contracts.

MILWAUKEE AVENUE—Surveys and plans complete for the ten and a half mile widening project; awaits approval by state highway engineers.

WATERMAN ROAD, RIVER ROAD, AND IRVING PARK BOULEVARD—Surveys and plans for widening completed and await approval by state.

WESTERN AVENUE—Requiring widening, replacement, and elimination of street car tracks near Blue Island; plans prepared.

LINCOLN AVENUE WIDENING—Plans in process of preparation.

FOURTH ROAD WIDENING—Plans in process of preparation.

Two projects entirely of state origin and completion, Roosevelt road and Ogden road, are now in course of operations, and promise to be the first of the county's double width thoroughfares.

The definite status of the Roosevelt road through route is promised disclosure at a gathering this noon at the Palmer house of representatives of interested organizations which exist along that thoroughfare. The city is to be represented by E. J. Butler, deputy commissioner of streets, the west park by President John Dill Robertson of the west park commission, and the plan commission by Eugene F. Taylor. The meeting was called by Charles M. Hayes of the Chicago Motor club for the purpose of ascertaining if all government units could not be coordinated in an effort to get the street in condition to meet the traffic conditions that will be offered when the new forty foot highway being built by the state to the county line is completed this winter. New surfacing in spots and perhaps widening of the bottle neck section will be discussed by the city officials.

FAHERTY TELLS PLANS

Improvements will go to districts where the Thompson vote was best, Michael Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, jokingly told the South Central association members at a meeting yesterday. He assured them also that he was looking for better and more expensive experts than he ever used before and he referred to the suit brought by The Tribune to force him and the experts to repay to the city the fees received during the preceding Thompson administration.

President Faherty was introduced to the South Central business men as "a great builder who has been on a vacation for four years."

It is his ambition and Mayor Thompson's Faherty said, to finish the jobs that started: Western avenue, Ashland avenue, Robey street, Ogden avenue, and Wacker drive. The contracts have just been awarded for the 22nd street and Indiana avenue improvements, "but," he said, "we have to draw a line somewhere on the south side for those districts that didn't support the mayor."

Then He Talks About Experts. Then he reached his favorite subject, experts. He was talking about Ashland avenue.

"My experts whom I paid so much money," he said, "claimed the property owners were only entitled to about $4,000,000. In the next administration with other experts that figure was increased to $12,000,000 and the people had to pay it."

When the property owners of any street come to him with a petition containing the majority of the frontage, and the owners are willing to pay for a subway by special assessment, "we'll give them a lower level street," he said, adding that he prefers that name to subway.

Calles Ousts Police Who "Shook Down" Catholics

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) MEXICO CITY, July 12.—President Calles has ordered the dismissal of Col. Antonio Arilla, head of the military judicial police, and five other members of the organization. They were proved to have been involved in the extortion of money from Catholics and wealthy Mexicans.

MANNING SCORES FREE LOVE IN LONDON SPEECH

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) LONDON, July 12.—Bishop Manning of the Episcopal diocese of New York took a hot shot at certain writers of modernist tendencies in the United States and delivered a broadside against Soviet Russia in an address before the Pilgrim society here today.

He attacked particularly the Soviet proposals for companionate marriages denouncing the idea of temporary alliances without children as one of the most degrading proposals ever made. It is only a new name for free love, he declared.

These proposals, he declared, do not have the general endorsement of Americans, but have been supported by certain writers who he denounced as "abominably immoral."

Bishop Manning said that Britain's break with Russia was almost unanimously endorsed in the United States.

APPLICATIONS FOR MILITARY CAMPS FAR OVER QUOTA

The Sixth corps area, including Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, yesterday announced that the number of applicants received for the citizens' military training camps is 2,000 more than was expected by the war department. With only 53 of 200 camps in the United States open, every camp has an overflow.

The Fort Sheridan camp opens July 28 and closes Aug. 5; 1,800 men can be accommodated there and 2,000 applications have been received.

EXPERTS' TRIAL ADJOURNED; TO RESUME OCT. 4

Trial of the six year old suit brought by The Tribune to recover for the city $1,168,000 out of fees paid to real estate experts during the second administration of Mayor Thompson was adjourned yesterday by Circuit Judge Hugo Friend for the court's summer vacation. Arguments, which started May 3, will be resumed on Oct. 4 and from the present prospects, may continue into next year.

The trial is believed to have set a record for Cook county courts. The bill was filed in April of 1921. Taking of testimony started on March 2, 1924. The case has been on hearing steadily since then except for one five month recess.

The principal defendants are Mayor Thompson, George F. Harding, then city treasurer, and Michael Faherty, president of the board of local improvements. Three real estate experts were named co-defendants: Edward H. Lyons, Arthur R. Merigold, and Edward C. Waller Jr. Lyons and Merigold have since made restitution.

Bishop Muldoon's Condition Shows Slight Improvement

Rockford, Ill., July 12.—[Special.]—The condition of Bishop Peter J. Muldoon showed a slight improvement today. He rested comfortably through the day. The improvement was so small, however, that his physician warned against arousing any false hopes for his recovery.

ASKS RECEIVERS FOR 2 FIRMS AT HOLLYWOOD, FLA.

Miami, Fla., July 12.—(AP)—Two suits asking receiverships for the Home Builders Realty company of Hollywood, Fla., and the Hollywood Land and Water company, based on claims of more than half a million dollars were filed in United States District court here today by the Highway Construction Company of Ohio, Inc.

The two companies are the principal organizations among 17 or more Hollywood corporations formed or headed by Joseph W. Young, founder and developer of the city, which was started in June, 1921. It was incorporated in 1925 under a city manager commission form of government, but the two companies continued to hold considerable city property.

The suits were based on claims for sidewalks and paving already constructed and for alleged losses sustained on contracts for such work not carried through on orders of the defendants.

100 Death Guns Are Dumped Into the Lake

Over 100 guns with official records as killers were dumped into the lake from a tug boat yesterday by Chief Deputy Coroner Paul Rothenberg. They were weapons, principally of the one hand variety, which have been confiscated in the last year in murder and suicide cases. "This is the best way to make sure that they won't be turned back into circulation to cause more deaths," Mr. Rothenberg commented.

Never embarrassed by perspiration odor

[This hygienic toilet soap purifies.]
[Keeps odor away—even after exercise]

WHAT a relief to be able to play tennis for hours—enjoy a stiff game of golf—dance a whole evening through—do any of the things that make you perspire and still be safe from the embarrassment of odor.

Millions now avoid perspiration odor this simple, easy way—Lifebuoy! A delightful toilet soap so refreshing that it's a joy to bathe with it every day. It purifies pores all over the body—gives lasting freedom from perspiration odor—keeps you fresh even in hottest weather or after hard exercise.

Keeps complexions healthy, too. Lifebuoy's mild, antiseptic lather not only purifies body pores—it purifies face pores, too, keeping complexions clear, fresh and glowing with health.

Better still, this same purifying lather helps protect against sickness—by removing germs from hands, as well as dirt. Yet it's so wonderfully gentle and soothing that your skin will love it.

Its very scent reassures

Lifebuoy is so different from other toilet and bath soaps that even its scent is different. Not a perfume, but a clean, hygienic scent which tells you Lifebuoy gives greater protection.

Even before you've finished your first cake, you'll learn to like this cleanest of all soap scents, which quickly evaporates after rinsing.

Without its antiseptic, Lifebuoy would still be a wonderful toilet soap—but you wouldn't get the same measure of protection.

Extra protection—free

Lifebuoy assures greater health protection and freedom from perspiration odor—yet costs no more, probably less, than the toilet soap you now use. Lifebuoy is orange-red, a big generous cake. You can get it wherever soap is sold.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

When Baby Complains.

There are many ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equalled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

To avoid imitations, always look for the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

O'HIGGINS' DEATH OPENS IRISH WAR UPON TERRORISM

Cosgrave Pledges State to Wipe Out Assassins.

DUBLIN, July 12.—(AP)—President Cosgrave, speaking in the dail today, emphatically declared that the assassination of Kevin O'Higgins, vice president of the free state, was a political murder.

"This crime has not been committed by individuals with a private grudge against Kevin O'Higgins," said the president. "It was the fruit of a steady, persistent attack against the state and its fundamental institutions. In the hands of those who have devoted themselves to that attack lies the blood guilt."

"We will meet this form of terrorism as we have met other forms of terrorism, and we shall not falter until the waste of it is wiped from the land."

Officials Pay Him Tribute.
As preparations were in progress for the removal of the body of Mr. O'Higgins from Mansion House to St. James' church tonight, Timothy Healy and William T. Cosgrave came slowly to the coffin side.

The governor, whose wife was buried only yesterday, stooped and kissed the forehead of the dead.

President Cosgrave laid his right hand on the brow of his friend, and passed on. The other ministers followed, repeating the president's eulogy. Then, all kneeling, the bishop of Killaloe recited prayers for the dead.

The coffin was closed and borne by six guards to a run carriage, drawn by six black horses. A long procession accompanied it to the church. In the procession walked President Cosgrave, the Free State ministers, and all the senators and deputies. The streets were thronged with thousands, who showed their grief.

Suspects Deny Guilt.

Whether the police have laid hands on the murderers is unknown. Ten men were charged today with conspiracy to murder Mr. O'Higgins, and were remanded until next Monday.

Each denied any knowledge of the crime and no evidence was offered in court.

One of the ten, George Plunkett, son of Count George Plunkett.

Location of Chicago Hall
in Union Park Is Urged

Union Park yesterday was advanced as a desirable site for the proposed Chicago auditorium at a meeting in the Flatiron building, near Union Park, of a committee from the West Town chamber of commerce. As a result of the meeting, a campaign will be launched immediately, advocating the location of the hall on that site, and efforts made to enlist the entire west side in the movement.

Prosecutor Katanyan described the prisoner as one who defected the movement headed by Senator Borah for recognition of the Soviet union at the moment of Russia's greatest influence. The said Drulevsky had forged documents purporting to show communist international activities in the United States, which, he declared, turned American sentiment against the Soviet union, thereby causing untold damage and loss of prestige in credit markets.

DOOM RUSSIAN TO DIE; CLAIM HE
BALKED BORAH

MOSCOW, Russia, July 12.—(AP)—After a trial in which the relations between the United States and Soviet Russia were frequently mentioned, Sergius Drulevsky was sentenced to death today on the charge of espionage and the fabrication of forged documents against Soviet Russia.

Prosecutor Katanyan described the prisoner as one who defected the movement headed by Senator Borah for recognition of the Soviet union at the moment of Russia's greatest influence. The said Drulevsky had forged documents purporting to show communist international activities in the United States, which, he declared, turned American sentiment against the Soviet union, thereby causing untold damage and loss of prestige in credit markets.

PROTECT OUR NAVAL DEFENSE.

The outstanding fact of the naval conference is that the British delegation is not concerned with naval expenditure. It is concerned first and last with securing naval predominance. It is not at all troubled with the question of parity and is quite willing to concede it so long as parity is a theory and not a condition. With an easy superiority in battleships in spite of the ratio of Washington, the British diplomat is not the sort to boggle at a toothless formula. The British delegation concentrates on the vital position, while ours is bound by the considerations which moved our calling of the first conference were largely defeated there or thereafter—namely: reduction of expenditure upon armament and the avoidance of competitive building.

The British proposals regard neither of these motives. The proposal for a 600,000-ton limit in total cruiser tonnage means a very large expenditure. It is not headed in the direction which conference is supposed to head, but in the opposite direction. The proposal for the reduction in the size of cruisers and in the caliber of guns may involve some saving in British expenditure but not in ours, and the only stabilization it favors is stabilization on the basis of our permanent inferiority in naval force.

The British proposals, in short, are directed not to the general and common ends of mutual retrenchment and friendly accommodation but to a drastic naval rearrangement entirely in the interest of British sea power, a rearrangement which would leave British preponderance in battleships unaffected, which would forbid us from building the only type of cruiser capable, in our lack of bases, of menacing distant lines of communication or of protecting our own long lines, and which, by lowering the permissible limit of gun caliber, would add to the existing navy of Great Britain an existing fleet of merchant ships convertible into fighting ships superior in numbers, tonnage, speed, and weight of metal to the cruiser type permitted to us.

To talk of parity in the face of such a program is surely waste of breath. In fact, to talk of parity at all, we suspect, is not conducive to candor or agreement. Its value for us is to protect us from ourselves, from our disposition to optimistic concessions of interest and right. Parity in fact we shall not have for many years, if ever, but we need now to conserve freedom as we have not yet surrendered to develop our navy in all branches along the lines of our interests and responsibilities. We may cherish the hope and expectation that the English speaking peoples never again will resort to armed conflict, but that amiable aspiration is more likely to be realized by an America capable at need of protecting its interests and backing its policy than by an America unable to do either. We, as well as Great Britain, have widely scattered interests, distant responsibilities, a growing world commerce. A sensible consideration of these should frame and realize our naval policy, and it is the duty of President Coolidge and our delegation at Geneva to see to it that we do not compromise our freedom to establish, develop, and maintain such a policy by unprofitable commitments made in our zeal for friendly accommodation.

SINKING MONEY IN COMMUNIST RUSSIA.

The Berlin correspondent of an evening paper reports that three Americans, representing important financial interests, are conferring with representatives of the soviet government over a contemplated loan of over a hundred million dollars. The report is significant whether such a loan is made or not. There are American financial interests that have a distinctly inadequate sense of responsibility in the profitable flotation of foreign loans. Such flotation involves not their own money but the money of many Americans who buy bonds and other securities largely on the faith of the distributing agency. High interest returns tempt especially investors who are least able to stand a loss of capital. We think it is the duty of honorable financial leaders and of the press to warn the public against this tendency and specifically against investing money in countries whose political and economic stability is doubtful. Such a country surely is bolshevik Russia.

Probably the larger considerations of our financial policy cannot weigh much with the individual lured by seven per cent and the name of a well advertised financial house. But it is to be hoped that, so far as is practicable, our financial leadership will support rather than weaken the course followed by British finance in refusing to bolster up the deservingly shaky credit of the bolshevik régime. Such a course seems to us justified by considerations of our own financial welfare and also that of the eventual welfare of the Russian people. The quicker the fanatic theorists and incompetents of the communist party ring fall from power from the logical consequences of their own folly and some return to sound economics is permitted, the better for Russia and her oppressed and misguided people.

ALIMONY IS FOR WOMEN.

Judge Lewis says alimony is for women, not for men. He has declined to require a wife to pay temporary alimony to the husband suing for divorce though the husband is ill and unable to work while the wife is reported to have a job and an income in addition to her wages. The judge decided that alimony is what the diplomats call a unilateral arrangement with men in the rôle of China. A husband, needless to say, can be made to pay a sizeable share of his income as alimony even if his wife is able bodied and earning a decent living. The husband assumes an obligation to support his wife from the day of marriage to her death, while she assumes no corresponding obligation toward him. She need not cook the meals or run the household unless she wants to and the law will make him support her if he leaves her for her failure as a wife.

It is not many years since woman, in law, was little better than a chattel, she belonged to her husband. He took over her property on marriage and any income she earned was his if he wanted to claim it and he often did. He could put her aside for infidelity, but she could not get rid of him for the same cause. He had to be both faithful and cruel before she could get a divorce. Woman's coming of age politically was only one aspect of a vast change in the status of her sex, but the noise which accompanied the grant of the vote withdrew attention from the revolution which was going on in the more important field of marriage.

Woman, far from being the member of the partnership who takes orders, is now more or less equal to man. So far as the law is concerned, she has the whip hand. Probably the law in this regard reflects the general attitude of men and women in the country; those who doubt it should remember that they may lack the perspective needed to see the situation clearly. Almost all foreign observers find that America is a woman's country in contrast to England and Turkey which may serve as examples of men's countries.

The revolution may still be incomplete. Well within the memory of living men, woman, now the senior partner, was the junior partner in law and in fact. Before she was a junior partner she was a servant and before she was a servant she was a chattel.

It is quite clear whether we are drifting; the question is how far we shall drift before the tide turns once more.

BETTER PAY FOR ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS.

After much confabulation congress in 1922 passed an army and navy pay bill which provided for certain increases. We do not think it went as far as it should. We think the officers of the army and navy are underpaid, and that the policy is neither economical nor just. Modern military and naval service calls not only for the moral qualities of courage, devotion, and sacrifice always sought in the warrior but a higher standard of exact and copious knowledge and a greater degree of skill than were known to the military science and practice of the past. Even the junior lieutenant of the army and the ensign of the navy, with the ink fresh upon their commissions, have had to undergo four years of exacting study and training, and while their base pay, $1,500, is not inadequate, as the years go by and their training and knowledge advance the relation between their pay and their attainments and responsibilities falls away. In the higher grades it is, in our opinion, quite inadequate.

The maximum a colonel can receive, including pay, rental and subsistence, is $7,200 a year, a brigadier general $7,500, a major general $9,700, and the same pay conditions apply to the corresponding rank of captain and rear admiral of the navy.

A captain in the navy of long service, for example, has responsibility for a forty million dollar investment of the American people, a battleship, one of the most complicated mechanisms devised by science and invention. He commands 1,200 officers and men, or more. As a naval officer he must not only be a seaman, a navigator, but he must be grounded in the science of war at sea and a dozen branches of physical science. He must know international law and at times he may be called upon to deal with diplomatic problems under the most difficult and dangerous circumstances. Without going into the responsibilities and requirements of the various grades of the army and navy, we suggest that they deserve much better recognition and compensation from congress than they have had.

It is true that public servants are supposed to forego many of the advantages, as they escape some of the disadvantages, of civilian occupation. But no fair and thorough consideration of what the nation expects and requires in the way of character, acquirements, and complicated fitness for military or naval service can justify the scale of pay which congress fixes for army and navy officers, at least above the early grades. At best the military and naval service, in spite of its attractions, is a career of sacrifice so far as many of the things which most of us value and would hardly surrender. At all times, even in peace, the heaviest responsibilities rest upon these men. To pay a man more than nine or ten thousand dollars, a brigadier or colonel, admiral or captain no more than $7,500 or $7,200 is grossly unfair and shortsighted. Twice the amounts named would not be too much. It is at any rate false economy to throw upon the men who are responsible for the defense of the nation and whose service is at all times exacting and difficult the private cares which a grudging and illiberal rate of pay brings in its train. They should not have to worry about provision for their families as many a faithful judge of the American judiciary has had to do, including even the members of the highest court of the nation. A wise policy has begun to be applied to the judiciary and it is time to apply it to the army and navy.

THE GRANT TREE.

The Daughters of the American Revolution with assistance from other agencies and from citizens have arranged today to mark the tree and spot where General, then colonel, U. S. Grant camped with his Twenty-first Illinois volunteers on the first night of their march from Camp Yates in this city to the secession front in Missouri. The place is within sight of Springfield on what is known as Riddle hill. The ceremony should serve to start a revival of interest in Grant and his local associations. There is no chapter in all military history so full of human, dramatic intensity as Grant's residence in Springfield and his assignment to the colony of this regiment. It was one of the decisive events in the civil war, determining the course of that conflict and affecting directly all the great results that flowed from it. The marker at Riddle hill is entirely too modest a recognition of Grant's presence. There should be in this city a fitting memorial to his services to his country and the cause of humanity, second only in size and importance to that erected to Lincoln's memory.

How to Keep Well

HOW TO TAKE THE KINKS OUT OF YOUR BACK.

Dr. PHILIP LEWIN makes use of the Journal of the American Medical Association to tell people how to take the kinks out of their backs. The fellow who is beginning to stoop might use the method. In the first draft of this article the pen said "try," "try" is the wrong word. Nothing will be gained unless the man who starts in stays on the job. Therefore the word "try" was scratched out and "use" was substituted.

The fellow who stands reared back with his stomach sticking out and who also is a candidate. A "bay window" means a curved back, and the Lewin exercises are for curves of this kind. The curves are due to bad posture, but not those due to tuberculosis and diseases of that character. It should also be good for some conditions that go by such names as lumbar, lumbago, and sciatica. My guess is that more than all this is good for constipation, at least for constipation in soft, flabby people.

The Lewin apparatus consists of a stool and foot stirrups. The stool is fourteen inches high, 11 inches wide, and 18 inches long. It is substantially made out of 1 inch boards. The stirrups consist of a 1 1/2 inch belt strap made of leather or strong webbing. It is 15 inches long and is fastened to the floor by means of iron rings and strong snaps.

The subject sits on the stool and hooks the front of his feet into the stirrups. He places a pillow on the floor behind him. The exercise consists in bending the body backward until the head touches the floor and then carrying it upward to the vertical position, and so on. The exercise is to be done until the subject can bend forward until his nose touches his knee.

Dr. Lewin advises that this back bending stunt be done ten to twenty times a sitting. He suggests that a large pillow be placed on the floor behind the exerciser, partly to make the head contact softer and partly to lessen the disturbance through which the backward bend is to travel.

Dr. Lewin says this is no easy stunt. The man who uses it to cure himself of constipation, lumbago, or stooping will carry his cure. The method is not new except as to details. At Battle Creek they make use of a board about 7 feet long and 18 inches wide, at one end to one and a half inches thick. At one end are stirrups for the feet. The exerciser lies on this board, and, placing his feet in the stirrups, raises his trunk to the vertical position. As he becomes more adept the foot of the board is raised to twelve inches higher than the head. This method develops the abdominal muscles, but it does not bend the trunk backward. To do the latter both Battle Creek and McKemie have well tried methods.

EXERCISE MAKES HER FAT.
I. G. writes: I am a young lady, 19 years old, 5 feet 11 inch tall, and weigh 132 pounds. I am considered the athletic type of girl; that is, I am not fat but solid. I take "eye" twice a week, four hours a week. It seems that I am gaining weight ever since I started. I weighed 129 pounds eight months ago when I started.

I am overweight, but what can I do?

REPLY.
Eat less. Cut down particularly on starchy foods, sweets, and fats. Keep your appetite satisfied by eating bulky watery vegetables and fruit in abundance.

NO SUCH POISON IN COFFEE.
J. S. H. writes: 1. What is the poison, if so-called, named in chemistry, that is formed by mixing strong coffee and sweet cream? 2. What is the effect on the internal organs, as the liver, stomach, kidneys, etc.; also on the brain and the nervous system?

REPLY.
1. There is none.
2. There are no ill effects unless the amount of coffee drunk is too large. In that event the caffeine has a harmful effect.

EMPLOYER'S NOTICE.
Chicago, July 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I. In a law in the state of Illinois which states that an employer, who is not under contract, must give several days' notice before he leaves his employer?
2. What is the fine or punishment on leaving an employer without notice?
G. M. D.

1. No.
2. None, but if the employer leaves in breach of the contract of employment, he would be liable for damages.

Depends on whether the employment is by law or by some other period. Illinois law tends to hold that the wage payment interval is not conclusive on this point. If the employer is discharged without legal ground during one of the recurrent periods of the employment he is entitled to pay to the end of such period, although he can be discharged at the end of the period without notice.

TRIBE OF WATER IN HOT WATER.

Chicago, July 7.—[Friend of the People.]—Can something be done about the scarcity of water near Belden and Nordica avenues? Between the hours of 6 and 10 o'clock in the evenings we are unable to get a drop of water, and unless a supply is stored in pans during the day there is no cooking or drinking water at this time. We would face a fearful calamity should fire ever break out during these hours. Can something be done to alleviate this hardship and at least enable us to get a semblance of water through our basement faucets?

A. F. H.

The lack of water about which you complain during extremely hot weather when people sprinkle lawns at the time water is needed for domestic purposes. The legal hours for sprinkling are between 5 and 7 a. m. and 7:30 and 10 p. m., and no sprinkling should be done except between those hours. All that is possible is being done to enforce this ordinance.

AUX ARMES! AUX ARMES!

Last night was the 12th of July. It was probably rather quiet in the garden of the Palais Royal in Paris, but away back on the night of the 12th of July, 1789, something began in the garden of the Palais Royal that turned Europe upside down and kept it that way for some time. It was a tremendous social and political upheaval that began that night of July 12 in the garden of the Palais Royal. So we had better pay a little attention to it. As you go around Paris you see everywhere the words, "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity." They're plastered on everything. Well, they got their start that night, and a long haired, hungry, white faced young poet did the starting. His name was Lucie Simplicie Camille Benoit Desmoulins, but he lost all of it except the Camille and he remains in history as Camille Desmoulins. We don't blame him for putting the Lucie out of his name, but he should have made a decent effort to get rid of the Camille. Anyhow, let's start on the trail of Camille Desmoulins and the beginning of the French revolution.

Let's ask Harry at the New York bar. "Harry, where'll we get the low down on Camille Desmoulins?" "Never heard of her," says Harry. "Why don't you go over to the Ritz? If she's trying to divorce some American guy, that's where you'll find her."

Harry is an American. Of course an American wouldn't know. We walk down the Avenue de l'Opera towards the Palais Royal and we call a gendarme. "M'sieur l'agent," we say, for it swells a gendarme all up to address him like that—so we say, "Excusez-moi, M'sieur l'agent, dites moi tout d'abord, Camille Desmoulins?" And the gendarme says, "Je n'ai entendu jamais de lui," which is the quaint way the French have of saying, "Never heard of him."

No use asking! We know enough anyhow. Let's go into the courtyard of the Palais Royal and try to imagine how it looked on the night of the 12th of July, 1789. There were numerous cafes on each side of the courtyard, and under the trees people were sitting at tables drinking and singing. Suddenly appeared Camille Desmoulins. Camille was a very impoverished poet, lawyer, and newspaper man (not a journalist; there were no schools of journalism at that time). He had been writing pamphlets and poems and Voice of the People contributions against kings and capitalism and tyranny and soap and things like that and not eating very regularly. Finally he couldn't stand it any longer, and after a few drinks in one of the cafes in the garden of the Palais Royal he broke loose that eventful night and leaped on a table with a pistol in each hand. Just what Camille Desmoulins said to the revelers that night of July 12, 1789, that turned them into shrieking maniacs and lighted the torch of the revolution, nobody knows. Camille has written a speech for him, and so have numerous historians. They all agree only on one thing, "aux armes," which means "to arms." We can write Camille's speech for him as well as anybody else, and we think he said that the farmer cannot make a living any more; the king of England is a big stiff; we must get out the vote; we stand at Armageddon; we battle for the Lord; we stand light wines and account by the ounce; we eat today; around her neck she wore a yellow ribbon; call me Cam; get out the vote; save the people from the Demon Rum; political purity and civic righteousness; get out the vote; let the people rule; no third term for King Louis—

Anyhow, Camille started something! The cry, "Aux armes!" went like wildfire across Paris, and two days later, on the 14th of July, down came the Bastille. We'll see about that tomorrow.

THE SPIRIT OF THE CONFERENCE

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 13, 1862.

WASHINGTON.—President Lincoln sent for slave state members of congress and had an important interview with them. He urged upon them his plan of gradual emancipation of slaves, and hinted strongly that if his plan were not adopted general emancipation would come under less pleasant circumstances.

MEMPHIS.—The shelling of Vicksburg by the federal gunboats continues, and a number of rebel gunboats have been dismounted by our bursting shells. Commodore Farragut has placed a battery of field pieces on the point opposite the town.

NEWARK, N. J.—The city council voted to issue promissory notes to the amount of $25,000 in denominations ranging from 10 to 50 cents to supply the existing want of small change.

CHICAGO.—Probably at no time in our business history has the city been so short of small change. Some dry goods stores make change in paper shin plasters. We advise people to refuse these paper checks, which do not represent money. Postage stamps represent money. Take your demand treasury notes and buy a quantity of 1, 3, 5 and 10 cent stamps and use them for all fractions of a dollar.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 13, 1902.

CHICAGO.—Patrick A. Feehan, archbishop of the Roman Catholic province of Chicago, died at the archiepiscopal residence, State street and North avenue. His sister, Mother Catherine Feehan, and Francis J. Barry, chancellor of the archdiocese, were at his bedside when he died. Death is ascribed to heart trouble, resulting from an acute attack of indigestion. The archbishop attended to his duties in the morning. Archbishop Feehan was born in Killinell, Tipperary, Ireland, on Aug. 29, 1829, the year of the Catholic emancipation. He was ordained a priest in St. Louis in 1852.

NEW YORK.—Announcement was made of the engagement of the Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, Episcopal bishop of New York, and Mrs. Alfred Cornwell, well known here for her philanthropy. He is 67 and Mrs. Clark is 62. Her late husband left an estate valued at $25,000,000.

CHICAGO.—Strike conditions in Chicago are more serious than ever. The freight handlers were unable to reach any agreement with the roads, and 7,000 truck teamsters started a sympathetic strike.

CHICAGO.—Robert Coburn, justice of the peace for Stickney, was found guilty of manslaughter for the killing of young Charles Miller last November and must serve a term in the penitentiary.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 13, 1917.

COPENHAGEN.—Emperor William of Germany has yielded in the crisis and issued an imperial manifesto declaring for equal franchise in Prussia. HISBE, Ariz.—Nearly 1,200 alleged Industrial Workers of the World were herded into twenty-four cattle cars by a posse of 2,000 men organized by Harry C. Wheeler, sheriff of Cochise county, and tagged for Columbus, N. M. The authorities at Columbus refused to allow the men to be taken to the state prison, and they were shut back and forth on the El Paso and Southwestern railroad. During the deportation two men were killed.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Baker announced plans for the draft of the new army are ready. The gigantic lottery by which the names will be drawn awaits only the completion of the registration lists, which is expected by next week. Every man of the 10,500,000 or more who registered will be drawn.

CHICAGO.—Three closely fought matches and one record breaking contest marked the third round of the western amateur championship at Midlothian Country club. The last was the defeat of Paul Burnett of Maywood by Francis Oulmet by the biggest winning margin—14 and 13—obtained in a western championship.

Other results were: Donald Edwards, Midlothian, defeated Jack May, Buenos Aires, 3 and 2; Kenneth Edwards, Midlothian, defeated Jesse Guilford, Boston, 1 up, and John G. Anderson, New York, defeated Ned Sawyer, Bob o' Link, 1 up.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

WHEN WILL ROADS BE WIDENED.

Chicago, July 8.—In today's TRIBUNE I noticed that the governor has signed the bill which permits the county commissioners to go ahead with the actual construction work involved in the widening of the 40 foot concrete roads.

Last fall the voters of this county after a comprehensive campaign by THE TRIBUNE had aroused public opinion to a high pitch, made available $15,000,000 through bond issues for widening purposes. Last Sunday, with thousands of other motorists, I sat by the hour in my automobile inhaling gas fumes on Waukegan road, west of Desperer. As I remember it, this was one of the streets that THE TRIBUNE laid particular stress on in its campaign, and because I drive my car over this road north of Cook county I was particularly interested in the campaign.

Now no one really knows when this thoroughfare will be widened to 40 feet, and I would like to find out if we are going to get relief on Waukegan road.

LAWRENCE L. BENTLEY.

THE NEW BOARD OF TRADE.

Chicago, July 9.—I see that the old Board of Trade building is to be wrecked and a new one built in its place. The old one stands right in the middle of La Salle street. Why not build the new one in a different location and let La Salle street be opened up to the south as well as widened to the north?

If it is impracticable to change the location of the Board of Trade building why could not the city acquire the street level for street purposes and allow the space above that to be used for the new building?
C. J. BUTLER.

RAGE ENGULFS YOUNG MAN.

Chicago, July 10.—The follies and fancies of woman, nonsensical as many of them are, are tolerable to me in almost every instance save one, and that is in the matter of gum chewing. I can never see my eyes and not gaze upon their nakedness and anatomical disclosures. I can look sadly, but tolerantly, withal, at the immense sunshade hats, their weird hair cuts and other freaks of accoutrement, without undue discomfort. I can close my ears and move untroubled through a constant barrage of silly, unreasonable chatter. In my daily life I can meet thousands of the unfair sex and still retain my reason. But when I see the wringing jaws and the clacking lips of the gum chewers something within me snaps and for the moment I become berserk.

A YOUNG MAN.

SUCKERS AND BADGERS.

Appleton, Wis., July 8.—In your issue of June 26 a correspondent writes that the Sucker state is so called because suckers sucked water from crab holes. The more usual explanation is that the early lead miners who came to Wisconsin from Illinois were called "suckers" because they went south in winter, a name suggested, perhaps, by the migratory habits of fish of the Rock and Illinois rivers, which flow south.

The "Suckers" are said to have called the permanent residents of Wisconsin "Badgers" because they lived in dugouts. JOHN BRAINERD MACHARG, Professor of American History, Lawrence College.

THE STORY OF OUR SHIPS.

Chicago, July 7.—[Historical America.]—that is now running in THE TRIBUNE, is one of the most interesting articles that ever appeared in that or any other paper. It is an education in itself, telling us of many things that happened in days gone by that many historians are silent on.

Think it would be very interesting if THE TRIBUNE would publish an account of the various fighting vessels of the American navy [including confederates] from the earliest time to the present.

INDIANA WANTS JACKSON TO TELL ABOUT CHECKS

Chafes at Silence About Dragon's Remittance.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 12.—(Special.)—Indiana demanded today that the governor, Ed Jackson, give an explanation for the canceled check made public yesterday which shows that Jackson was given $2,500 by D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, now in prison for the murder of Madge Oberholzer. Even the forces which stood by the governor in his fight against Stephenson's charges have called upon Jackson to explain, if he can. The only has been that he has nothing to say. He is due in the city Thursday from a motor-trip to Kansas.

While the challenge was hurled at Jackson two new checks were made public through Attorney Lloyd O. Hill, counsel for Stephenson.

One of the checks is for $1,000 given by Stephenson on the Indiana National bank, dated Oct. 21, 1924, and made payable to the Republican state committee. Attached to it is a notation, said to be in Stephenson's own handwriting, as follows:

"Donation to state committee at Jackson's request."

The other check, for $500, and dated Jan. 11, 1924, was payable to Edward Tegtmeier, who was an employee of Stephenson. With this check Stephenson added the note:

"To send five men to St. Joseph county for two weeks each preparing organization for Jackson primary."

Recall Jackson's Denial.

Gov. Jackson last winter made the positive statement that Stephenson never had made him any gift or campaign contribution. This statement is now being requested throughout the state, with demands that the governor now must tell whether the Stephenson check is genuine or a forgery, and if genuine, how he happened to forget it last winter.

Meanwhile the demand for a legislative inquiry of the new developments, suggested by Boyd Gurley, editor of the Indianapolis Times, was being picked up by other leaders.

Writing editorially in the Times, Mr. Gurley says that "the people of the state will not be content to let the governor maintain what he calls a 'policy of silence.' That the governor should daily along the highways in a motor while the state demands a clear, open and frank statement is inconceivable and unbearable."

Public Grows Restless.

The Indianapolis Star, which has been rather a middle path in the charges against Jackson, says editorially:

"The governor should clear the air. It is true that the charge is made by a man serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary, but he backs it with what purports to be a check. 'The people want an end to the whole thing. They want Prosecutor Remy to act as speedily as possible if anything has been presented to him on which to base criminal action. Do not shield or protect any one, high or low, but clean up the whole unsavory mess. Let us have all there is to Stephensonism uncovered immediately, and then give the state a chance to live down the injury it has sustained from that source.'

Rowbottom Charges Forgery.

The Indianapolis News today said that a document purporting to have been given Stephenson by Congressman Harry E. Rowbottom of Evansville, Ind., offered the former klan dragon the privilege of dictating how patronage should be dispensed in Rowbottom's district. Rowbottom has branded the document a forgery, and the witnesses whose names appear on it make the same charge of forgery.

PADLOCKS FOR 5 PADLOCKS.

Legionport, Ind., July 12.—(Special.)—Federal officers are expected here to padlock five sell drink parlors against which closing orders were issued by Judge Thomas W. Sick in Federal court at South Bend Monday.

NEW DRY CHIEF WOULD PUT TAX ON ILLICIT BOOZE

Washington, D. C., July 12.—(Special.)—Prohibition enforcement will "pay for itself," according to Seymour Lowman, who succeeds Lincoln C. Andrews as assistant secretary of the treasury on Aug. 1, if a proposed drive to force bootleggers and moonshiners to pay civil taxes on their illicit liquors, in addition to the fines imposed for Volstead law violations, is successful.

District dry administrators, gathered here for a week's conference, were reminded today by Mr. Lowman and Prohibition Commissioner James M. Dohan that the normal tax on whisky, when legally distributed, is only $1.65 a gallon, but that when the liquor is diverted through illegal channels a tax of $4.40 a gallon may be assessed. Similarly, it was pointed out, cereal beverages legally distributed, may be taxed only one-tenth of a cent a gallon, but the tax on illicit brews is 20 cents a gallon.

GARMENT UNION FACTIONS CLASH IN STREET RIOT

Two factions of Chicago garment workers met yesterday on Market street just north of Van Buren and when the air cleared of bricks and other missiles the police took three clothing workers to a hospital and seven others into custody. For several months, police were informed, friction has been rife between the two garment workers' factions, one of which belongs to an organization affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, while the other is classed as an independent union.

Efforts to effect a consolidation resulted in a pitched battle and two loads of policemen had difficulty dispersing the crowd.

Those taken by the police to a hospital were Sylvia Rubin, 1144 South Francisco avenue, Frank Rabinowitz, 1341 West Roosevelt road, and Isadore Kroon, 2725 Blaisell street. The three injured clothes makers suffered bruises and lacerations.

JAYWALKERS IN LOOP WARNED BY VISITING JUDGE

Pedestrians hailed before Municipal Judge A. B. Summers, in Traffic court, on charges of crossing a street against stop signal lights will receive no gentle treatment, he announced yesterday.

"A section of the latest traffic ordinance provides fines up to $100 for pedestrians who scuffle across streets in defiance of signal lights, and I see no reason why this law should not be enforced," said Judge Summers, whose home is in El Dorado, Ill., and who is sitting in for Chicago judges during the vacation period.

Jaywalkers and persons who take up valuable sidewalk space to chat over their personal affairs are also given warning by Judge Summers.

Calls Congestion Unnecessary.

"Much of this loop traffic congestion is unnecessary and many accidents could be avoided if the law was observed," he said.

Chief of Police Michael Hughes was reticent last night as to any special plans he might have in mind to enforce rigidly the crossing ruling. Little real effort to enforce the rule in the loop streets has been exercised by police since passage of the ordinance last March, several observers noted.

Former Chief of Police Morgan Collins fought bitterly at the time against insertion of the section in the traffic ordinance. He declared it to be practically a physical impossibility to prevent overflow crowds in the loop—particularly during the afternoon rush hours and the after theater rush period—from dodging across in the face of the red lights.

Predicts Hopeless Tangle.

"During the rush hours you would bank up people to the extent of never untangling them," the former chief declared. "To enforce that rule strictly would mean many more police on loop duty."

Judge Summers resurrected the paragraph in the ordinance two days ago and hastened to confer with Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court, seeking reasons why no one appeared active in its enforcement. It was learned. The chief justice assured Summers the section was really the law. Then followed Judge Summers' pronouncement.

Asks to See Rings, Flees with Two Worth $1,600

"I'd like to look at a ring for my girl," a young man yesterday told Elmer Rich in his jewelry store at 5 East Washington street. Rich produced a tray from which the man selected two solitaires and asked permission to examine them in a better light.

He departed out of the door with the diamonds valued at $1,600. He escaped in a crowd of shoppers.

POLICEMAN NEAR DEATH IN DUNES HIGHWAY CRASH

Police Lieutenant Willis H. Barnard of the Englewood station was near death in a Michigan City hospital yesterday as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident Monday night on the Dunes highway. The officer, accompanied by his wife, was blinded by the lights of an approaching car. His machine plunged into a ditch, turning over several times, and his skull was fractured. His wife was less seriously hurt. The other driver did not stop.

Joseph Gorgoni, 3 year old son of Frank Gorgoni of East Chicago, was killed yesterday in a collision in Calumet City. The driver of the other car, Gus Laurentas, of 1711 Rubel street, was arrested.

This death and two others raised Cook county's 1927 motor toll to 491. John Flews, 8 years old, of 1500 Walton street, died from injuries received Sunday. He was crushed to death by an automobile operated by Mrs. Adelaide O'Keefe, 1813 Walton street, who was just learning to drive. With her husband, Adam, who was her instructor, she was charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Mrs. Amelia Teskie, of 2121 North Kedzie avenue, was fatally injured when she was struck by an automobile at Bernard street and Elston avenue late last night. She died a short time later in a hospital.

Mrs. Marie Lacapoula, 35 years old, of 13328 Burley avenue, saved her baby from being struck by an automobile in front of the home, but it may cost her life. As she snatched the child from the path of one machine she ran into another in which Joseph Bonka of Calumet City, was riding. At the South Shore hospital it was found that the mother had suffered a skull fracture.

Almond Ponte, 21, of 1347 Elburn avenue, was fatally injured when a motorcycle on which he was riding collided at Van Buren and Clinton streets with a surface car. Joseph Clannetti, 2223 Taylor street, who was driving the cycle, and a third man who occupied a side car were uninjured.

Melon Rind Pickles

Watermelon, citron melon, cantaloupe and ripe cucumbers are all used. Peel the rind, cut in 1 inch squares or strips and soak in alum water (2 teaspoons powdered alum to 1 qt. water) over night. Heat to boiling point and cook 15 minutes. Drain, cover with ice water, let stand 2 hours, drain and dry between cloths. For 3 pounds of rind use 2 cups sugar and 2 quarts water. Heat slowly, add rind and 2 lemons (sliced and cooked in a little water 20 minutes), and the usual spices. Cook until a straw will pierce the rind (about 2 hours). Seal while hot.

In anticipation of the canning season, I have prepared a chart of directions for canning fruits and vegetables. There is no charge for this and I shall be glad to mail it to you, if you will send me your name and address.

West All for Cal!

Rapid City, S. D., July 12.—(Special.)—National Committee-man Pat Sullivan of Wyoming, who is generally accredited with great wisdom in western national politics, said today that Coolidge would carry every western state from which he had reports, and this included all but Arizona.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Rapid City, S. D., July 12.—(Special.)—How to dot a thousand lonely hills of this western range with the cattle was suggested to President Coolidge today by representatives of the Western Stock Marketing association, who called on him.

This plan is an extension of the co-operative marketing process, with which the President is sympathetic, to the cattle business, which has been at a low ebb since the deflation during the Wilson administration, and which now is beginning to lift its head.

Stock Marketing Bureau.

The cattlemen are not, like many in the corn belt, looking toward the government to furnish the lever that will lift them from depressive markets, but they are asking government aid in the organization of a stock marketing bureau which would show them how to control their market.

Extended to the entire western range, as is suggested, cattle would be manipulated just as the fruit growers of California handle their crops, holding them until they get a certain minimum price. Such an organization would compel the packers to bargain for cattle on the ranches instead of in the Omaha and Chicago markets.

The men who talked with him found him more than vaguely sympathetic. They found him of understanding mind.

"I guess we did not tell him much; he knew all about it before," said Paul B. Martin, president of the association.

Six Profitless Years.

"There has been no profit in the cattle industry for six years," said Mr. Martin. "The best solution of the situation is a government stock marketing bureau to assist the cattlemen in organizing so that they can market their cattle at home. The trouble now is with marketing conditions. Let the packers buy out on the range and do their own shipping. This will take the price fixing away from Chicago and Omaha. We have to sell our cattle now at a forced sale, or the feed bill would eat up a load in a week. We cannot ship back home because of the freight bill. We want a price in advance of shipping."

FARMERS OF 15 STATES UPHOLD HAUGEN MEASURE

St. Paul, Minn., July 12.—(U.P.)—The farmers of the west have served notice on the country that they intend to fight for farm relief as embodied in the McNary-Haugen bill which President Coolidge vetoed, although they are willing to revise the measure to meet the President's objections.

Representatives of 15 middle west states, attending the important north-west farm conference here, Tuesday voted to support the bill until it becomes law.

Drafted by Congressman Charles Brand of Ohio, the resolutions urged that the McNary-Haugen bill be changed:

To permit the President to select nominees for the federal board to stabilize prices of farm products, instead of having them chosen by farm organizations.

To make the bill general in its application so as to include all farm products, instead of the five specifically named in the bill which Mr. Coolidge vetoed.

ASSESSORS LIST VALUE OF BANKS FOR TAX RATING

Statement Shows Cuts by Board of Review.

Figures on bank values for taxation purposes were made public yesterday by the board of assessors.

As compiled the valuations show that the board of review in 1926 cut most bank valuations at least in half, and in dealing with the smaller banks reduced the tax values to one-fourth, one-fifth, one-sixth, and in some cases more than that.

Uses Bank Statements.

As it was explained yesterday, the board of assessors got its valuations from bank statements. Capital stock, surplus, and undivided profits are taxable as personal property. The board of assessors certifies its valuations to the board of review, which then has the power to raise or lower them.

None of the members of the board of review could be reached last night for an explanation of the figures. Other county officials, however, said that inasmuch as no business concern or individual is assessed on the full value of either personal property or real estate, the board of review tries to equalize bank stock in proportion to the taxable values on other personal property.

Figures for List and Other Banks.

Following is a list of the figures for the larger Loop banks and some of the others. The figures in the first column are those fixed by the board of assessors last year; the next column shows the amount to which the board of review reduced the assessors' valuations; the third column shows the new figures as just completed by the board of assessors:

Assessor	1926	1927
Bank of Montreal	300,000	50,000
Bank of America	130,000	50,000

Cont. Com.	15,000,000	10,000,000
First Nat. Bank	30,000,000	16,250,000
First Nat. Bank	13,500,000	7,650,000
First Nat. Bank	4,200,000	1,500,000

First Nat. Bank	3,900,000	1,110,000
First Nat. Bank	8,000,000	2,000,000
First Nat. Bank	270,000	116,000
First Nat. Bank	33,750,000	19,500,000
First Nat. Bank	4,000,000	4,000,000
First Nat. Bank	8,000,000	2,000,000
First Nat. Bank	1,000,000	1,500,000
First Nat. Bank	1,800,000	800,000
First Nat. Bank	8,000,000	2,000,000
First Nat. Bank	125,000	40,000
First Nat. Bank	1,000,000	10,000
First Nat. Bank	9,000,000	2,000,000

The prevailing opinion among county officials was that the board of review would cut the assessors' 1927 figures in perhaps the same ratio as they did last year.

Some Big Personal Tax Payers.

It was revealed in the personal property valuations for individuals R. T. Crane, 1550 Lake Shore drive, heads the list so far as completed. His valuation is $750,000. The next largest is that of E. M. Miller, 227 East Delaware street, with $445,000, but that includes a 50 per cent penalty for failure to file a schedule. Some other valuations follow:

John S. Crane, 1550 Lake Shore drive, $750,000.
Mrs. Bessie S. Crane, 1550 Lake Shore drive, $147,000.
Mrs. Bessie S. Crane, 1550 Lake Shore drive, $147,000.

TEARNEY'S CAFE
FURNISHINGS ARE SOLD AT AUCTION

Furnishings of the Tearney Town club, 619 South Wabash avenue, now under federal padlock, went on sale yesterday under the auctioneer's hammer and brought $6,500, which was used to satisfy mortgage holders. The padlock has, which has been in force for three months, was lifted for the sale.

The condition of Al Tearney, owner of the cabaret, who became ill suddenly, was reported greatly improved at Grant hospital where he is a patient.

Mrs. Bernice Smailly, 25, and her husband, John, quarreled last night at their home, 6740 West 44th place. John left and Mrs. Smailly set fire to the house to show her disapproval. Neighbors extinguished the flames and held her until the police arrived. She was arrested.

IMPLORE COUNCIL TO RESTORE NAME OF ROBEY STREET

Opposition to the recent ordinance passed by the city council, authorizing the changing of the name of Robey street to Damen avenue in honor of Father Arnold Damen, brought scores of residents to the hearing yesterday at the city hall, where the move to change the name back to Robey was discussed before the committee on local industries, streets, and alleys.

At least an equal number attended to support the retention of the name of Damen avenue. Both sides were generous with applause as the controversy was taken up by speaker after speaker, the arguments being carried far past the noon hour, with Ald. D. A. Horan, chairman of the committee, presiding. Action was postponed.

Expense of changing the name on advertisements, stationery, maps, and street signs was cited by Emmanuel Goldenberger, secretary of the Greater Robey Street Improvement Association, as one of the chief reasons for restoring the name of Robey street. Business interests along the thoroughfare, he declared, will suffer considerable loss of business through the confusion and delay in delivering mail.

Ninety-five per cent of the property owners and residents along the street are against the change of name, according to Joseph R. Noel, president of the Noel State bank, who represented the Wicker Park chamber of commerce. Since Father Damen was an educator whose work was known nationally and internationally, he suggested, "a more appropriate manner of honoring his memory would be to name a school after him."

Attorney Patrick H. O'Donnell, an alumnus of Loyola university, which is an outgrowth of St. Ignace college, founded by Father Damen, was applauded when he declared that Chicago should not permit its spiritualism to be obscured by other motives in naming its streets.

"We are building roads and avenues as never before," he stated, "and what could be more fitting as a memorial to our great spiritual men than giving their names to thoroughfares."

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph J. Thompson, historian of the archdiocese of Chicago, sketched the history of Father Damen, his contributions to Chicago, and his work in the interest of public and parochial schools.

PLEADS FLOOD CONTROL BEFORE COMMISSIONERS

St. Louis, Mo., July 12.—(U.P.)—The federal government should treat flood control along the Mississippi river as a national problem, or abandon the Mississippi valley, Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, chairman of the recent Chicago flood control conference, told the Mississippi river commission here today.

The commission, he added, has two great duties before it, the first the immediate duty of restoring the levees before the next rise of the river, and the second, the formation of adequate plans for future flood prevention.

Nation at Crossroads.

"We must deal with results as we find them," Mayor Thompson said. "The American nation stands today at the crossroads. It can either stand idly by, indifferent, and continue its present policy of inadequate dealing with this problem or it can spend the money and time necessary to create an agency that will master this river and its tributaries, and allow this nation to proceed to the fulfillment of that great destiny to which it was intended."

Discusses the Cost.

Discussing the possibility that the ultimate cost of flood control might be great, he said:

"The expenditure of any sum, even a billion dollars, now would appear to us to be a sound investment, if it results in preventing floods."

The "neighborhood policy" of flood control in effect in the past, he maintained, has resulted in "meddlesome inefficiency" and has prevented the adoption of adequate and complete plans for flood control. Mayor Thompson attacked the contention that immediately adjoining the levees derives special benefits from them, declaring that the only benefits such land or its owners enjoyed was in being "groomed out at regular intervals."

SECOND CIRCUS VICTIM OF RAIL ACCIDENT DIES

Edward Welch, 25, of Loganport, Ind., died at an Aurora hospital yesterday of injuries suffered early Sunday, when an interurban car ran into a herd of elephants belonging to the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus.

Welch was an elephant attendant and was riding one of the huge beasts when the crash occurred. His death was the second due to the accident. Robert Benson, 25, of Boston, was crushed under an elephant that was killed.

Six others, four of them circus employees, were injured. Mrs. Babe Gardner, who performs in the principal elephant act in the show, is one of those still confined to the hospital.

BLAKE APES HIS
MATES; GIVES 3

6 to 2 Score.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Boston, Mass., July 12.—It is getting so that no day is complete unless some Cub line comes through with a masterpiece or something close to it. It was Fred "Shrimp" Blake's turn this afternoon to follow in the foot steps of Root, Carlson and Bush and he did so nobly that the sensational Chicago outfit simply cantered to a 6 to 2 victory in the delayed opener of a five game series with the lowly but well-meaning Braves.

Blake set out at such a dizzy pace that for quite a spell the 3,000 spectators, who seemed only mildly interested in observing the happenings, thought there might be a no-hit triumph pulled off. But the no-hit chances of the Chicago speed baller went glimmering when Heathcote neglected to allow for the wind carrying a fly ball out of his reach in the sixth. Then Blake set his heart on a one hit achievement, thus equaling the recent feat turned by Charley Root, but a bunt in the ninth followed by a clean single robbed him of even that fleeting honor.

Cubs Get 12 Hits.
It probably is of no importance to mention that four different gentlemen indulged in the motions of pitching for the Braves. They were Genewich, Wertz, Goldsmith and Mills in the order named but on their effectiveness they were hardly entitled to be mentioned in the public prints. Heathcote pitched the first five innings while Blake set his heart on a one hit achievement, thus equaling the recent feat turned by Charley Root, but a bunt in the ninth followed by a clean single robbed him of even that fleeting honor.

When the ninth opened Walsh laid down a bunt that was unexpected. Blake tried to stab it but missed and Beck dashed in to scoop it up, but was too late to get the man at first. Farrell forced Welsh and Burrows then crashed in with the only real Braves drive of the game. He spanked the ball on a line to right center for a single, but the next batter grounded into a force out and Blake personally tossed out Brown to conclude the one sided struggle.

This place making Chicagoans did their first bit of profitable work in the second inning. Stephenson led off with a liner to right and made two bases on it. Grimm pepped out and Hartnett's long fly to center led Stephenson home to third. Then Beck carried a hit off Bancroft's shoulder and Stephenson scored. The process of picking up men few at a time was resumed in the fourth. Webb hoisted one off Genewich's offering into left for two bases and a moment later Grimm drove home with a single to center.

Cubs Score 2 Gift Runs.

Two more were moved over the plate in the fifth, thus forcing Genewich to go elsewhere. After Blake had fanned, Adams cracked a single to center and to third on Pick's two bagger to right. On Heathcote's tap Adams killed off at the plate. Webb walked to fill the bases and when Stephenson walked Pick was forced to score and Genewich was forced to turn over his tools to Wertz. The latter promptly slipped free passage to Grimm and Heathcote crossed the counter.

Wertz still was working when the sixth started and Beck jarred him with a triple to right. The run scored on Adams' hit. In the last two innings and Brooklyn lost, 2 to 1. Vance drove in the Robins run with a sacrifice fly. In the eighth, Pittsburgh tied the count on singles by L. Warner, Groh and F. Waner. The deciding run was scored in the ninth when Cuyler walked, stole second, was sacrificed to third and scored on Hill's grounder to Partridge. Score:

A CHAMPION HITS THE CANVAS

Mushy Callahan, junior welterweight champion, was knocked down in the ninth round of his battle at Wrigley field last night with Sgt. Sammy Baker of New York. A second after the picture was snapped Callahan struggled to his feet, but the referee stopped the fight and Baker was given the verdict on a technical knockout. Callahan could scarcely stand.

Defeat Athletics, 8 to 5

BY EDWARD BURNS.
Cornelius McGillicuddy, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, who smugly accepted the nomination some weeks back when the experts said his club would win the American league pennant, was afflicted with a complication of apoplexy and St. Vitus' dance during the sixth inning of the so called ball game at Comiskey park yesterday afternoon.

It was in this frame that his boys and old man GEORGE CONNALLY went all to pieces and enabled the White Sox to gather six of the eight runs which they used in acquiring an 8 to 5 victory.

George Connally was the winning pitcher. George was a better batter than a thrower, for he made four hits, two of them factors in the two Sox rallies, while he dealt 15 hits before giving up to Tommy Thomas with none out in the ninth.

Cobb's Hit Scores Run.
In all, it was a rowdy afternoon. Impetus being given to rife conduct by Tyrone Cobb, who picked fights with the umpires on numerous occasions.

Despite Cobb's wolfish mood, it was his single in the third that perpetrated the first run of the game. Rommel led off with a single and was forced at second by Bishop. Hale singled and put Bishop on third, whence he came back, while he dealt 15 hits before giving up to Tommy Thomas with none out in the ninth.

SOLDIER FIGHTER
ROARING CANNON
IN LAST ROUND

10,900 Pay Way to Show.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
Sgt. Sammy Baker, the soldier fighter from New York, won from Mushy Callahan of Los Angeles, the world's junior welterweight champion, by a technical knockout in the ninth round of the windup of the American Legion boxing show at Wrigley field last night.

The end came after a series of punches under the heart weakened the champion and caused STANLEY LOATEL to drop his guard. Quick as a flash Sammy whipped across a right hook and Callahan went down. He took a nine count and when he got to his feet he reeled around the ring in such a helpless condition that Referee David Barry stopped the contest. The ninth round was over in minutes and 38 seconds gone when the bout was stopped.

Callahan's Boss Kicks Referee.
As Referee Dave Barry was walking down the aisle to the dressing room after the match, Eddie Sears, manager of Callahan, kicked him. A free for all fight would have resulted had it not been for timely interference. Sears will be compelled to answer to the boxing commission his morning.

Promoter James Mullen arranged the bout, which was the best staged in Chicago since boxing was legalized. Fidel La Barba, the world's flyweight champion, defeated Pat Moore, local bantamweight, in the ten round semi-windup.

The show, promoted by the Woodlawn post of the American Legion to send wounded sailors, soldiers, and marines in Chicago hospitals to the American Legion convention in Paris next September, drew a crowd of 10,900. The receipts were $47,500.

Title Not at Stake.
Although Callahan was defeated, he did not lose his title. At weighing in time yesterday Baker scaled 144 pounds, four pounds over his welterweight limit. Baker and Manager Steve Webber decided that a win over the champion at catch weights would be a glory and a boost.

Baker was too strong and hit much harder than Callahan. It was the punching power Baker received under the heart that proved about his defeat. Baker started to shoot for the body in the second round and his aim was perfect. He followed through with his punches, and Callahan was hurt. Callahan's body behind his blow. Callahan, on the other hand, was content to box and on only a few occasions turned loose with his right hand.

WHEAT DECLINES; CORN ADVANCES, THEN HAS SLUMP

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation and local selling was in wheat as the result of a bearish construction placed on the government report issued late Monday, and prices at the inside showed 3/4¢ to 1¢ under the close of the previous day, and the finish was at net losses of 3/8¢ to 1/2¢ with September leading. July finished at $1.40 1/4, September, $1.40 1/4, and December, $1.43 1/4.

Corn had a range of 2 1/2¢ to 3¢ and fluctuated in an erratic manner, advancing very sharply at one time only to ease later with wheat and close unchanged to 1/4¢ lower with July, $1.05 1/4; September, $1.05 1/4; and December, $1.05 1/4. Oats dropped 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ with July, $0.85 1/4; September, $0.85 1/4; and December, $0.85 1/4.

Local sentiment was bearish on wheat, and there was general commission house and local selling which uncovered short orders, and sellers of bids were forced to protect themselves on the way down. The northwest was on the selling side, and there was also persistent pressure credited to a leading local professional. The government report was the main influence, as it suggested a total available supply of around 94,000,000 bushels against 92,000,000 for last year, and other factors counted for little. Support was limited except from shorts although there was some retreating of those sold out on the recent bulge.

Local Reports Not Factor.

Crop observers who are in the northwest continue to report black rust in spring wheat, but the belief generally prevailed that the grain in the southern part of the belt was sufficiently advanced in growth to be materially injured even though weather conditions became favorable for spreading the pest. Western markets showed much more strength than Chicago, and lost only 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ for the day, although the export demand was slow, and sales in all positions were limited. The northwest was on the selling side, and there was also persistent pressure credited to a leading local professional. The government report was the main influence, as it suggested a total available supply of around 94,000,000 bushels against 92,000,000 for last year, and other factors counted for little. Support was limited except from shorts although there was some retreating of those sold out on the recent bulge.

Local Bulls Buy Corn.

Local bulls became free buyers of corn futures following a small dip at the opening, and advanced prices to a new high in the present movement. The market fell back later, however, in sympathy with the break in wheat. The government report had little effect except for a brief period early. Spot basis was steady to 1/4¢ higher.

Scattered liquidation developed in oats. A decidedly bearish view was taken of the government report on oats.

NORTH MICHIGAN MAY HAVE A NEW TALL BUILDING

BY AL CHASE.

So much mystery is thrown around the sale of the property at 150-171 North Michigan avenue, which was transferred yesterday by James Norris to someone who wishes to keep his identity undisclosed, that the natural thing is to assume a syndicate is trying to assemble a site for a story skyscraper. One rumor has it that it will be merged with the John Cunee property adjoining it on the south. Another is that the property to the north may be acquired. It is pointed out that the Cunee property at Randolph and Michigan, one of the outstanding skyscraper sites in the world, is small for the super-high structure which the location calls for. It has been persistently rumored for many months that the property adjoining it on the north (the land sold yesterday) would be added to it in assembling an office building site. Mr. Cunee is out of the city and the hint that he may be the real buyer in yesterday's purchase could not be verified.

But to get back to facts, the records show the mysterious buyer paid $1,750,000 or at the rate of $13,846 per front foot.

The Chicago Title & Trust Co., as trustee, took title. The seller, Mr. Norris, has been dubbed "The world's largest grain operator."

VIEWING WORLD AS JUST OUT OF ITS ADOLESCENCE

BY HARPER LEECH.

One of the greatest of living scientists told this writer not long ago that mankind had made more progress in the last 20 years in the ascertainment of the facts of the physical universe than in all the previous history of the race. Yet the margin of knowledge is but a tiny fringe on the unknown, while the theoretical ordering and interpretation of the discovered facts is a continuous process. Within 20 years the entire conception of the universe has been radically overhauled.

Man primarily is not a scientific animal. To date his history has been affected more by factors other than those which relate to his degree of intelligence. In his survey of the world the closer he gets to himself, the less scientific he becomes. It is no accident that astronomy became a science long before economics has ceased to be a series of controversies. Applying the tried methods of historic and literary criticism to any social or economic text—say of 1776, 1848, or 1895, it is perfectly feasible to find in its arguments the reflection of the world of that day upon the writer.

We do so criticize and evaluate the writings of economists, statesmen, and reformers of the past. It is absolutely certain that the economic ideas, social cuts and political shibboleths of 1927 will be so examined in 1950.

But nobody in 1927 fruitfully can apply the same critique to Isaac Newton, Michael Faraday, or Charles Darwin. Their theories have been revised, their results checked and corrected—but solely in the light of subsequent facts discovered—not because of the reflection in their work of contemporary psychological influences. So there is a vital difference between real science and the embryonic groupings of knowledge and opinion, which have been called social, political and moral sciences. It is well to keep this fact in mind. It is forgotten too often. Yet if any man will recall the theorizing of even one decade, he will note the rise and fall of dogmas, slogans and shibboleths in sociology, anthropology, psychology, and related "sciences" at a rate which almost suggests the dizzy variations of the hair dressers' art.

The simple truth is that a very large share of all so-called economic and sociological writing is nothing more than a process of rationalizing emotions, which spring from the social positions, the economic circumstances or the historic heritages of the writers.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Baked Penobscot Salmon.

The world of ideas frequently gets turned topsy turvy, and so we must expect food ideas to suffer the same chance. A baked fish, to many people, means a whole and a stuffed fish. But a slice of fish may be baked, and a small tail slice at that, or one that cannot be stuffed.

Just after making a special trip to look at the "famous Bangor salmon pool" I chose baked salmon for my luncheon, and was rather astonished to get a baked tail slice, which had been rolled in fine crumbs, but was nothing as delicious as the same thing would have been boiled in a little water and served in cream sauce. A thick slice of salmon boiled and creamed, especially if it be Penobscot river salmon, is certainly a dainty dish, good enough to set before a king. Or it may be cooked and then the most mixed with a thick salad dressing for as agreeable sandwiches as you ever had at the most successful picnic.

The old fashioned Maine way of serving this daintiest of late fish was to boil it and serve it with a butter sauce plentifully full of slices of hard boiled eggs.

The cooked flesh of a fresh caught salmon is tender and moist, not dry as that of some of the market salmon are. And, if it is Penobscot river salmon, it is as light a pink as the lining of the great conch shell to which we put our ear to hear the ocean sounds it is supposed to give out. Get Maine fishing literature if you want to learn of the great sea salmon, "superlative for their beauty and their game qualities." And if you want to learn what other fish you can catch in the most famous fishing state in the union, get all its fishing literature. There are even bulletins in the railroad stations—typewritten—telling you what you may catch at the ponds (small lakes) which cover Maine, as well as in the streams. The names may not charm you.

Cultivating a Schoolgirl Complexion

By VILMA BANKY

Never touch your face with any but TRUE complexion soap

THE first rule in modern skin care is to keep the skin clean and pores free of accumulations. Use powder and make-up all you wish. But never leave them on overnight. That means soap and water. But it means, too, a TRUE COMPLEXION SOAP only. A soap made for skin use. A soap made to protect and beautify.

Thus, largely on expert advice, millions use Palmolive Soap; touch their faces with no other. It is made of cosmetic oils. It is made for one purpose only—to protect and beautify the skin.

sage its balmy olive and palm oil water; then with cold. That is all its nature's rule for keeping the schoolgirl complexion. Do that regularly, and particularly at night. Note then how much better your skin is even on your face. GET REAL PALMOLIVE. Get Palmolive today. Costs but 10c the cake. Use no other on your face. But be sure you get GENUINE Palmolive. Crude materials represented by the name of Palmolive are not the same as Palmolive. Remember that and TAKE CARE. The Palmolive-Pet Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

Henry Field Plans Study of Human Beings as Scientist

BY NANCY R.

Scattered indeed are the courses followed by our fashionable folk, both young and old, when they start out adventuring.

Henry Field, who spent last winter here in Chicago and quickly made a niche for himself within the confines of the younger circles, is now bidding adieu to his mother, Mrs. Algernon Burnaby, before setting forth on a ten months' anthropological tour to Spain, Africa, Italy, Hungary and other interesting countries, to gather material for the Field museum. He sails with the expedition a week from today.

Mrs. Burnaby, the former Minna Field of Chicago, who, with her husband, spent a few days here last month as the guest of the Stables Fields, out at their country place in Lake Bluff, is occupying the summer residence of her aunt, Mrs. Bryan Lathrop, in York Harbor, Me., this season, but expects to leave there by mid August, to be home in England in time for the fox hunting.

Mrs. Burnaby, by the way, is another of our enterprising ex-citizens to start a racing stable. In May, it is reported, she is to purchase a stable near Paris. Such a hobby is one of the most expensive luxuries in the world, and all her friends are wishing them the best of luck.

Miss Muriel McCormick, who has been much missed in Lake Forest of late, has gone out to Santa Barbara with Mrs. Stanley McCormick to spend a few weeks. Mrs. McCormick recently purchased a charming house in Boston near her mother, Mrs. Wirt Dexter, where she plans to spend a part of each year.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: The Boss Is Hooked

Marriage, It Seems, Is No Magic Changer of Person's Character

BY DORIS BLAKE.

If you want a butterfly wife, choose a gay creature who wants to be on the go endlessly, who wants clothes, and who wants a real helpmate, pick a girl who is as ambitious as you are, yourself.

But during the last winter it undoubtedly was submerged under plait. In the midseason openings, however, the flare was so conspicuously stressed that now many style prophets are predicting a return of the knee flare with a consequent disparagement of the plaited skirt.

Certainly this prediction is supported by many of the newest coats. These garments, developing from a svelte upper portion to the boldest and sauciest of knee flares, were a feature reported from the Paris races in June.

For the young woman of those slender proportions required by the mode, a flared frock of the type sketched above forms a graceful change from the demure bodice and bouffant skirt of the period style. We show it in white moire with a very long waist line to which is attached a diagonal flounce of fine black lace. A bow of the moire following the same slant of this flounce is one of the most important details of the gown.

White for evening! Once more we have the same old familiar refrain that haunted the summer resort of last year. You can't really do better for yourself than by getting a white evening gown unless you take the above hint and combine your white with a touch of black.

Another man marries a girl with the level headed reasoning that she is economical and thrifty and loyal, and all that. Later on, when success strikes him, he expects his wife suddenly to blossom forth as spendthrift enough to make a showing of his success to his friends.

Or, another man marries a girl whose character is a business little piece of fluff. Everywhere she went she sat and preened and furiously antagonized the wives of the other business men among whom they were thrown socially. In desperation, the young husband turned on his wife one day and told her to get busy and read so that she wouldn't appear such a dumb-bell when they were out. She naively replied that he had changed terribly, because in the engagement days he used to tell her it was a relief to be with a girl who didn't bore him with what she knew.

What seems like ancient history to us is a reported war waged in Berlin over bobbed hair. One faction urges that locks and skirts be clung to to offset the moral and unattractive degeneration represented by the short skirt and cropped hair.

The anti-bobs adopted a slogan: "A woman's common sense is the same length as her hair and skirt." Well—that isn't what you'd call the last word in flattery for the American maid and matron now, is it?

What's going on in Germany over coiffures, however, isn't so vital to our happiness as what is happening in Paris, or on the Riviera. And the latest word on our favorite seat of information is that the tight, close, mannish bob is on the way out. It is not written that short hair is doomed—but that the head must have the feminine touch or you're a season or two behind.

The younger generation in our country didn't wait for Parisian edicts to set their locks to growing until they could be arranged jauntily in a neat coil at the nape of the neck. At one of the eastern colleges where a parade of the class beauties featured the commencement exercises it is recorded that out of a group of twenty-one seventeen were long haired.

If you make inquiries about town at the smart hairdressing parlors you are told that the older woman, once bobbed, is loath to sacrifice this hold on youth and she continues going every week or two to have her short hair kept in order.

Now, however, with this most recent Paris edict, she is showing a tendency to avoid the close cropped hair and is adopting a cut that is a fairly good imitation of long hair. The new ruling, as I say, is not for long hair, but for a distinctly feminine note in the coiffure arrangement. Flat curls, like those on Greek statues, are being adopted in some cases, and fluffier arrangements of the marcelled locks in others. Some of the women who set the fashions abroad, we are told, are wearing groups of flat curls, small and tight, on the temples and over the ears.

With the jeune fille's own adoption of the long tresses and this more recent trend of the curl for the older head, does it not seem, perhaps, that we are on the eve of a return to the old vogue of acclaiming the crown of glory as all of that?

A Little Strategy Helps. "Dear Miss Blake, I met a girl whom I took out. Later I asked if I could see her again. She gave me a poor excuse and has avoided me ever since. What shall I do? MURKIN."

Wait a while—not to appear too anxious—and in the meantime let her see other girls are glad to accept.

Polar Flare Returns to the Fashion Zoo

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondent.]—The polar flare—once more it has been captured and confined at the knee line. As a matter of fact, this flare which began abruptly below tightly molded hips has never disappeared from our fashionable horizon.

But during the last winter it undoubtedly was submerged under plait. In the midseason openings, however, the flare was so conspicuously stressed that now many style prophets are predicting a return of the knee flare with a consequent disparagement of the plaited skirt.

What's going on in Germany over coiffures, however, isn't so vital to our happiness as what is happening in Paris, or on the Riviera. And the latest word on our favorite seat of information is that the tight, close, mannish bob is on the way out. It is not written that short hair is doomed—but that the head must have the feminine touch or you're a season or two behind.

The younger generation in our country didn't wait for Parisian edicts to set their locks to growing until they could be arranged jauntily in a neat coil at the nape of the neck. At one of the eastern colleges where a parade of the class beauties featured the commencement exercises it is recorded that out of a group of twenty-one seventeen were long haired.

If you make inquiries about town at the smart hairdressing parlors you are told that the older woman, once bobbed, is loath to sacrifice this hold on youth and she continues going every week or two to have her short hair kept in order.

Now, however, with this most recent Paris edict, she is showing a tendency to avoid the close cropped hair and is adopting a cut that is a fairly good imitation of long hair. The new ruling, as I say, is not for long hair, but for a distinctly feminine note in the coiffure arrangement. Flat curls, like those on Greek statues, are being adopted in some cases, and fluffier arrangements of the marcelled locks in others. Some of the women who set the fashions abroad, we are told, are wearing groups of flat curls, small and tight, on the temples and over the ears.

With the jeune fille's own adoption of the long tresses and this more recent trend of the curl for the older head, does it not seem, perhaps, that we are on the eve of a return to the old vogue of acclaiming the crown of glory as all of that?

A FRIEND IN NEED. BY SALLY JOY BROWN. Mother Asks Help.

"I am the mother of a small baby. A few months ago my husband deserted me and since then I have had to provide for myself and my child. I have been offered a job at a summer resort and must leave within the next few days if I am to have it. I wonder if you could get some clothing for me, before I go. I wear size 16 and shoes, size 5."

A dress or two and a pair of shoes would probably keep Mrs. B. comfortably for the remainder of the summer. Can you help her a bit?

Two Suits to Give. "I have a Prince Albert suit in perfect condition which I would like to give one of your readers. I also have a black and white striped suit some one may have. They are size 44 or 46 and must be called for soon. "M. E. S."

Would you like to have one of these suits M. E. S. so kindly offers? Let us hear from you immediately if you would.

Orders Surve
Mayor's Ap

The city council yesterday to provide a foundation for a plan to meet the motor traffic problem in the city. It directed the committee on traffic regulation to study the situation and give it powers to make recommendations to the city departments. The committee on the movement of the city was launched formally in a resolution adopted by the council. The resolution has the endorsement of Mayor Thompson, Ald. John A. Thompson, chairman of the committee, and the work of the committee will be to study the problem of the city's traffic and make recommendations to the city departments. The committee will be composed of the following members: Mayor Thompson, Ald. John A. Thompson, chairman of the committee, and the work of the committee will be to study the problem of the city's traffic and make recommendations to the city departments.

Study of Four Subjects
Four specific subjects in the resolution as subjects for study. They are: 1. Two-level streets in the city and adjacent areas. 2. Elevated throughways for speed automobile traffic to city limits. 3. Separated grades at city street intersections. 4. Subways for heavily traveled streets.

The committee, it was announced, will arrange immediate public hearings on the plan for the work. The Chicago Plan commission, business groups and other utility companies will be invited to participate in the hearings. Mayor Thompson, in his address, said that he would have his support for the plan. "I have always been and double-decked streets which should be built can be financed. I was self in building the thoroughfare on Michigan convinced that this is the congestion problem. As yet the plan is somewhat theoretical, but it has my full sanction and it should go the way of the Ald. Massen expressed an intensive study of the bringing about the principles that have been free of their equivalent.

Timely Action
The action is timely county's road widening will develop increasing from the city's. The building of highways from the loop to will fit that situation, view fits into projects in the making, such as elevated boulevard to and the possible double cross street.

These arteries, to northwestern outlet, proposals which meet the needs of the mayor and commission in connection with improvement of traffic. The elevated boulevard and other measures the traffic problem have been years and it is about time some action.

The resolution directed to report its conclusions in a report to the city council as soon as possible. Formal consent to the plan was given by the city council yesterday by the city council's action authorizing the city to study the side of the water tower of the parkway on the avenue.
